G-23's fresh inclusive leadership call

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

AMID fast-paced developments in the beleaguered Congress on Wednesday, its G-23 rebels advised the party leadership that the only way forward is to adopt a model of collective and inclusive leadership and decision making at all levels. The statement was issued after a dinner meeting at veteran leader Ghulam Nabi Azad's residence.

The G-23 meeting was earlier scheduled to be held at Kapil Sibal's house but was shifted at the last minute as leaders like ex-Haryana chief minister Bhupinder Singh Hooda were not comfortable with his attack on the Gandhis. Sibal is currently in the eye of a storm as he said upfront that the Gandhis should let someone else head the Congress.

The G-23 statement also demanded that the party leadership initiate talks with like-minded forces to build a credible alternative ahead of the next Lok Sabha polls in 2024. "The next steps in this regard will be announced soon," the statement jointly issued by 18 leaders said.

What was interesting about the gathering was the presence of Rajiv Gandhi loyalist Mani Shankar Aiyar. Other additions were Patiala MP Preneet Kaur and ex-Gujarat CM S S Vaghela. Old faces like Anand Sharma, Manish Tewari, Shashi Tharoor, Prithviraj Chavan, Vivek Tankha, Raj Babbar, Akhilesh Prasad Singh and Sandeep Dikshit were also present.

The dissidents had thrown the door open to those who were not part of G-23 but shared concerns about the party's future.

I urge the government to put an end to the systematic interference and influence of Facebook and other social media giants in the electoral politics of the world's largest democracy — Sonia Gandhi, Congress president

In Parliament, Congress president Sonia Gandhi aggressively attacked social media giants for allegedly siding with the ruling BJP during the recent state elections. Later in the day, she appointed senior leaders to assess the situation and suggest organisational changes in all the five states where the Congress was routed. A day earlier, she had sought the resignations of five PCC chiefs.

The newly appointed leaders are Jairam Ramesh (for Manipur), Ajay Maken (Punjab), Rajani Patil (Goa), Jitendra Singh (UP) and Avinash Pandey (Uttarakhand). P9

₹3,600-CR DEAL

CBI charges former def secy in VVIP chopper scam

ENS @ New Delhi

THE Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) has filed a supplementary chargesheet against former defence secretary and Comptroller and Auditor General Shashi Kant Sharma and former Air Vice-Marshal Jasbir Singh Panesar in connection with the ₹3,600-crore scam involving the purchase of VVIP helicopters from AgustaWestland. The chargesheet was filed in a Delhi court.

The CBI team probing the scam, has received the defence ministry's sanction to prosecute the accused. Sources said Sharma, who was a joint secretary in the defence ministry between 2003 and 2007, was made the defence secretary in 2011. He was the CAG when the scam came to light in 2013.

Shashi Kant Sharma

The case pertains to the alleged bribing by Italian company AgustaWestland to clinch a deal to sell 12 VVIP choppers to the Indian Air Force. The CBI was handed over the case in 2016 and it filed its first chargesheet in the case against the former Air Chief Marshal S P Tyagi and 11 others in 2017.

It was alleged Tyagi recommended a cut in the operational ceiling of IAF helicopters from 6,000 metres to 4,500 metres to help AgustaWestland clinch the deal. Others named in the case include former deputy chief test pilot S A Kunte.

SC to hear hijab pleas after Holi vacations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday said it will consider listing the appeals against the Karnataka High Court's hijab order, which upheld the ban on wearing hijab in educational institutions of the state, after the Holi vacations.

The plea was mentioned by senior advocate Sanjay Hegde before the bench headed by Chief Justice NV Ramana.

A special leave petition was also moved in the Supreme court on Tuesday by two Udupi students through advocate on record Anas Tanwir against the Karnataka High Court order which ruled that wearing of hijab by Muslim women does not form an essential religious practice in the Islamic faith and prescribing uniform is not a violation of fundamental rights guaranteed under Article 19(1)(a) and Article 25 of the Constitution. The plea states that the high court failed to note that the right to wear a hijab comes under the ambit of 'expression' and is protected under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution.

"... High Court has failed to note that the right to wear a hijab is protected as a part of the right to conscience under Article 25 of the Constitution. It is submitted that since the right to conscience is essentially an individual right, the 'Essential Religious Practices Test' ought not to have been applied by the Hon'ble High Court in this instant case," the plea reads. It has been said in the plea that the high court failed to note that the Indian legal system explicitly recognises the wearing / carrying of religious symbols. P4,10

Expect Sawant, Biren Singh to continue as Goa, Manipur CMs

PARVEZ SULTAN AND PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ New Delhi/ Guwahati

INCUMBENT chief ministers of Manipur and Goa N Biren Singh and Pramod Sawant are likely to get a second term in the office. The central leadership of the BJP is learnt to have approved their continuation after a detailed discussion.

In Manipur, the party won 32 seats in the 60-member House enabling it to form the government on its own for the first time. In Goa, the BJP secured 20 out of 40 seats and has support of Maharashtrawadi Gomantak Party, which won two seats.

Both leaders met Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday in Delhi, which suggested they would continue as chief ministers. "In all probability, they (Singh and Sawant) will be repeated. However, the final decision is to be taken by the Parliamentary Board," said a BJP leader privy to the matter.

Another leader close to the party's decision-making body indicated "status quo", underscoring the success the BJP achieved under the existing arrangement. The name of the Manipur CM would be officially announced after Union ministers Nirmala Sitharaman and Kiren Rijiju meet the party's MLAs. Both were scheduled to arrive in Imphal on Wednesday, but the visit has been delayed.

Sawant also met Union home minister Amit Shah. In the evening, Nadda met caretaker CM of Uttar Pradesh Yogi Adityanath and other leaders from the state to discuss government formation so as to strike the right social and regional balance.

CAG: Encroachments of roads caused accidents

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

OBJECTING to the functioning of the Karnataka State Road Safety Authority (KSRSA), the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) in its report pointed out that bad condition of roads and hazards, including encroachments, led to road accidents.

The CAG report on the Authority, which was tabled in both the Assembly and Council on Wednesday, pointed out that the Authority established in 2018 is yet to frame rules to discharge its duties. They have utilised hardly Rs 10 crore out of Rs 480 released to them, it stated.

Joint physical inspection of selected roads showed various kinds of road hazards, including encroachments. Twenty such hazards were noticed per kilometre in BBMP limits and seven to nine on national and state highways, it pointed out. P4

Jal Jeevan Mission barely floats in Uttara Kannada

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS @Karwar

The Jal Jeevan Mission, an initiative of the Union government to provide clean drinking water to rural areas, has become a burden for the administration as well as villagers of Uttara Karnataka district and the pr0ject has been put on hold in over 60 villages.

Drawing water lines to remote, forested rural parts of the district is difficult as houses are situated far from each other, resulting in cost escalation. The district is densely populated along the coast, but in the Western Ghats, houses have a minimum of at least 1 km distance between them.

"Considering the geography of the region, we need to invest heavily on long pipelines. With the rise in petroleum product prices, the cost of PVC pipes too has gone up," said an officer associated with the project.

Another officer said that the administration cannot make such heavy investments. "We tried to get people to invest part of the cost, but since they need to put in thousands of rupees, they are hesitant," he added. P5

BWSSB's cup of woes flows over

₹355 cr due to Board, govt depts owe highest

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

A WHOPPING Rs 355 crore is the water bill arrears to the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB). The leading defaulters are the government departments of both State and Centre functioning in the city, say official sources.

Due to sustained pressure and follow-up, the BWSSB has managed to collect Rs 336.8 crore for the financial year 2021-2022 which will end in a fortnight. The arrears have piled up over decades and includes an 18 per cent annual interest on unpaid bills.

A top official said, "The collection for March will be be done only in April. After much effort, we managed to collect Rs 2.18 crore from our biggest defaulter, the police department. We also collected Rs 1.91 crore from the defence department, and Rs 30 lakh from the Railways."

However, the sum collected appears to be only a fraction of the outstanding amount. "Of the outstanding amount, the same three departments are the top defaulters - police owe Rs 41.98 crore, defence Rs 22.25 crore and the Railways Rs 11.8 crore," the official explained.

While the water connection is immediately disconnected when such dues accrue in case of commercial establishments, the protection that government departments get since as part of the government apparatus is making them ignore regular payments, another official said.

Compared to them, the amount due from private parties was minimal, he added.

Asked about it, chairman N Jayaram told TNIE, "We do not disconnect water connections to government departments over non-payment. Some of them have delayed payment as there is dispute over the billed amount and they feel it is too high while some of them genuinely do not have the resources available to pay the bill." The BWSSB was going all out to collect the amount due to it with repeated reminders sent to officials in departments, the chairman said.

Site in HRBR Layout goes under hammer for ₹6.81 cr

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE second e-auction of sites for this financial year by the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) has proved to be a huge success. One particular site in HRBR Layout went under the hammer for Rs 6.81 crore and was bought by a Non-Resident Indian (NRI), said a top official.

A total of 1,502 individuals took part in the bidding process for 524 sites on March 12. When the curtains came down on the auction process, the BDA ended up selling 293 sites, earning Rs 344.38 crore, data revealed. The civic agency earned Rs 160.27 crore more than what was expected.

While 172 sites went unsold, the BDA cancelled the auction of 26 sites as the price quoted by the bidders was 5 per cent lower than the base price.

The HRBR Layout site fetched the highest price in the auction. "The site in the 3rd Block of the locality measures 337.23 sqmt (slightly less than 50x80 sqft). We had fixed a bid price of Rs 4.94 crore, but it exceeded our expectations and went up to Rs 6.81 crore. This works out to Rs 2 lakh per sqmt and was the costliest of all the sites auctioned," he said.

The other site which evoked much interest was at Anjanapura. "The bid price was Rs 64 lakh, but it was finally purchased for Rs 1.57 crore, which is 2.5 times above what we asked," the official said.

The crying need for better infrastructure at the Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Layout has not impacted the value of sites. "We had fixed a floor price of Rs 47 lakh, but the buyer finally bought it for Rs 1 crore, more than double the price," he pointed out.

Asked about the unsold sites, the official said, "In every auction, one-third of the sites go unsold. Some of the sites not sold earlier have been put up for re-auction again and these have not generated interest again," he said. The BDA is presently reimbursing the refundable deposit of Rs 4 lakh to Friday's unsuccessful bidders.

On how the funds mobilised will be utilised, the official said it will go towards creating infrastructure at Kempegowda, Sir M Visvesvaraya and Anjanapura layouts. The only other auction in this fiscal was held last December.

Revision of tree Act to ease felling, transport

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

TO INCREASE the green cover, encourage agro forestry and help farmers, the Forest Department is working on revising the Karnataka Tree Preservation Act (KTPA), which will ease permissions to axe and transport trees.

Already, 27 tree species are exempted from the list for felling and 42 tree species need permits for transportation. The list includes species like eucalyptus, casuarina, rubber and melia dubia. The Forest Department gets maximum requests to fell trees like mahogany, neem, sisal and teak.

The aim is to help farmers fell fully mature trees for commercial purposes and undertake more plantation. To ensure transparency, the process to seek permission for felling trees has been included under the Sakala Mission to speed up the process.

Presently, if one wants permission to cut trees, the Revenue Department has to verify ownership of the land and the tree. Later, the Forest Department assesses the species of trees and gives permission. "The entire process is tedious and time-consuming. This has not only led to illegal felling, but also prevented farmers from taking up commercial plantation. A revision of the Act is being planned to ensure that the green cover increases and is well protected," a senior forest department official told The New Indian Express.

After the revision, Section B of KTPA, which makes it mandatory to utilise the felled tree locally, will not be applicable . At present, whether it is one tree or 100 in one plot, a series of permissions is needed. If it's a revenue-generating tree species, permission from the assistant commissioner is needed and if it's a non-jungle species, the tahsildar's permission too is required.

"We want to add more species to the list. The KTPA revisions will be limited to only private farm lands in 128 dry taluks of the state, other than Malnad and the Western Ghat regions. It will not be applicable to urban areas, government lands and urban private lands," the official clarified. The department is also pressing for strict implementation of the National Green Tribunal and Supreme Court orders, which state that for every single tree axed, ten more need to be planted. The department is also working on increasing the green cover in urban areas by undertaking aggressive plantation and protection drives.

High moisture content in soil to affect mango yield

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

PICK and chose the mangoes this season. They will not only be costly but also less in quantity. This is because of the high moisture content in the soil which has lead to hormonal imbalance in the flowering pattern resulting in a decline in yield.

The issue is worrying the officials of the Karnataka State Mango Development and Marketing Corporation Limited (KSMDMCL). For the state, this is also the off-year of mango yield. Members of the mango technical advisory committee, experts and officials have predicted that the yield will be 40 per cent to 60 per cent only, which is around 8-9 lakh metric tonnes. However, the production will extend till July end and first week of August.

They explained that a slump in hermaphrodite flowers was observed last time in 2018 which has recurred now. These flowers are key to a good produce. But this time more male flowers have been reported by farmers, a matter of concern.

KSMDMCL Managing Director CG Nagaraju told TNIE that for good quality mango production, drought, high temperatures and dry winters are needed. But this time, the monsoon extended till December end, which has lead to high moisture content in the soil. Despite dry winter spell in January, it offered little help.

The high moisture content has led to hormonal imbalance in the flowering pattern across the state. Also, the flowering plants started to show fresh vegetative growth which has further affected the mango flowering. More insects and pests have also been reported by farmers in their fields, said members of the technical advisory committee. They pointed out that mango prices are expected to rise due to fall in yield, which will benefit farmers. The sale of mangoes on KSMDMCL portal will start from first or second week of April.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

17th March : It's a true Cancerian day. By that, I mean that all of us can do better if we take on some of the finer qualities of this wonderful zodiac sign. Whatever your own horoscope says, be faithful to your friends, loyal to your principles and aim for practical benefits from all your actions. That's the way to success.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You have every right to be pleased with your prowess at work. However, over the next few days you will have to face up to a number of hard choices which will affect your personal life and colour the way other people see you. Yet nobody at the moment seems to be able to grasp the real truth.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Is there some way in which you can rearrange your work to reflect your creative aspirations? Certainly there are many intriguing ideas afoot, all of which could form the basis of an interesting experiment. If you have any doubts or questions, you might not get the right answer until next week.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You can ignore family pressures or domestic irritations no longer. Today's steamy Lunar angle will give you the chance to deal with all long-delayed questions. Don't expect instant agreement or approval though, as it's just one of those times when everyone has their own opinion.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Important discussions may be more difficult than you anticipate. The simple reason is that everybody seems to place such unrealistic hopes on the outcome. Stick to your guns for now, otherwise partners will imagine that you're a right old push-over.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The financial news may not be what you expected, but the net result could be positive if it enables you to reorganise your affairs. There are some commitments which cannot be changed, but you still have some room for movement. In love, it's time to tell someone how you feel about them. You can keep quiet no longer.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Your current planetary aspects will offer you a shot in the arm, shaking you out of any complacent corners or ruts you've been hiding in. Don't expect dramatic events just yet - you may have to wait a few more days before the lie of the land is clear.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Something may happen to worry or upset you. Perhaps you will feel that other people are blaming you unfairly for things you haven't done. However, such concerns are illusions which will be dispelled when the facts are known. But that might not be until late next week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You'll enjoy social activities all the more if you are ready for anything and happy to join in without worrying about the consequences. Don't be hung up on excessively conventional standards of behaviour. Instead, you may try to carve an individual path for yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It is professional rather than private affairs which are the focus of your concern today. The last thing you want to do is get involved in a quite unnecessary public slanging match, so watch your step. You may not be in the wrong but, then, nobody will care whose fault it is!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The planets are on your case so to speak. The cosmos is expecting you to do your duty by combining self-interest with your higher principles. Quite apart from such lofty questions, you are still experiencing powerful travel stars. You may even go exploring new lands.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Check out new investment opportunities, and don't be unduly concerned if a previous course of action now appears to be distinctly unpromising or unprofitable. You'll act fast but keep your options open, just in case circumstances change as fast for you as they have done for others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There's a burst of turbulence in the cosmic atmosphere today, so expect stormy weather emotionally. Even if you keep your cool, partners are determined to pick a fight or provoke you somehow. You can always escape by going a long way away, or at least round the corner!

No nod sought for Corbevax: NTAGI

Health experts feel that jab may not be risky, but may also not be beneficial for kids

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

Children in the 12-14 age-group get their shots of the Corbevax vaccine at Atal Bihari Vajpayee Medical College, in Bengaluru on Wednesday, as Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar and Education Minister BC Nagesh look on | EXPRESS

THE Centre's decision on administering vaccines for the 12-14-year age group has come as a surprise to members of National Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation (NTAGI). While the Union Health Ministry, in a press release on March 14, said that the government had taken a call after "due deliberations with scientific bodies", Dr Jayaprakash Muliyil, member of NTAGI, which is one of the important groups in the chain of granting approvals to vaccines, says he is "confused". This issue is expected to be discussed in the next NTAGI meeting on March 23.

In the process of vaccine approvals, after the DCGI's nod, the NTAGI deliberates on this and screens the ability of the vaccine to be part of the national vaccination drive at a three-level process. Then, the National Expert Group on Vaccine Administration for Covid-19 (NEGVAC) takes a decision after which the Union Health Ministry approves it.

Speaking to TNIE, Dr Muliyil said, "The NTAGI has not recommended it. I don't know which body has done it. Unless I have missed some point completely, this all seems very strange. You can say I am quite confused."

He argues that children are naturally resistant to this virus and Omicron has created a sea of infections during the third wave. The vaccine that is now being given was based on the Wuhan strain of virus. So why is that being given, he questioned.

On the risk versus benefit in administering Corbevax for 12-14-year-olds, experts feel that since a majority of children have already been infected, the risk in giving this vaccine may be minimal, but the benefit may also not be much.

Agreeing that a majority of children who were screened for the trials were already infected with Covid-19 and had good antibody levels, Dr Pradeep N, Principal Investigator of the Department of Paediatrics, Cheluvamba Hospital, which is one of the vaccine trial sites, said, "We screened nearly 300 children and found only 63 to be eligible. Many children tested for Covid antibodies, indicating past infection. We looked at zero antibody titers and selected 63 children for the trials."

Dr Muliyil fears that when this vaccine is given to a large number of children, then there will be some untoward happenings.

NO LACK OF INFO TRANSFER, CLAIMS PHARMA FIRM CHIEF

Amidst a controversy that the Corbevax vaccine has been launched for the paediatric population without sufficient approvals from the NTAGI, Mahima Datla, MD of Biological E, stated in Hyderabad that their most recent meeting with the body was on March 10, ruling out any such possibility of lack of information transfer. "Our first point of sharing of data and information is the drug controller and, until they review the data, make suggestions whether it's inputs to protocols or review of data, they are the first body to see it. Subsequent to approval from the DGCI, our next stop has been the NTAGI. There have also been instances where, upon their invitation, we have also shared data which is in the making without approval of DGCI," said Mahima Data, speaking at the launch of the vaccine.

Low turnout on day 1 of jab drive for children

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE start of the Covid-19 vaccination drive for children aged 12-14 years in the state on Wednesday was marked by low turnout with most of the districts vaccinating less than 30 children. Children mostly turned up for walk-in vaccination. Speaking to the media, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said around 20 lakh children in the 12-14 years age group have been identified in Karnataka for vaccination and, with the availability of the vaccine, he said, many anxious parents are relieved.

"Everybody was waiting to vaccinate their children. Parents and children are very happy. In Karnataka, we have identified 20 lakh children. Today, we have started the drive and we would like to vaccinate all as early as possible," he said. Children were administered the Corbevax vaccine manufactured by Hyderabad-based Biological E and the districts were strictly asked by health officials to ensure that age proof was verified and that even if they were one day younger than 12 years, they should not be given the vaccines.

The number of beneficiaries were mostly below 30 in many districts on the first day. Officials in Dharwad said they are yet to receive proper guidelines, but were vaccinated 20 children on day one. In Kalaburagi district, 29 children were vaccinated on Wednesday.

ACB RAIDS 18 OFFICERS AT 75 LOCATIONS IN STATE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) on Wednesday began one of its biggest operations in the state and raided 18 officers over alleged disproportionate assets. According to the Additional Director General (ACB) Seemant Singh, a team of 100 ACB officers accompanied by 300 staff conducted searches at 75 locations across 20 districts. # Explained: Managing Dynamic Agribusinesses

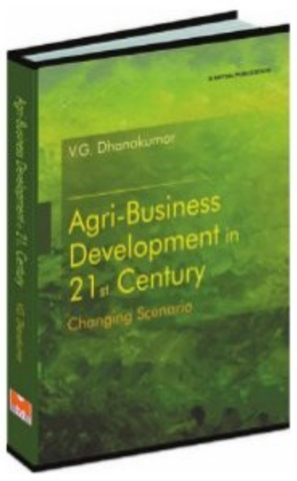
The importance of agriculture towards the growth of Indian economy hardly needs any elaboration. However, in light of the changing environment this position must be re-oriented to match the opportunities. This will necessitate a change in mindset "Pushing for incremental improvement" to "transformational change".

Agribusiness Development in 21st Century: Changing Scenario, authored by Dr. V. G. Dhanakumar constitutes a comprehensive reading for the next generation of agribusiness professionals. This book can attract readers of all kinds by providing a basic understanding of the fundamental concepts required to successfully manage agribusinesses in a fast changing, technologically advanced, consumer-centric VUCA world. An overview presented in this book clearly demonstrates alternative agricultural practices which differ the conventional approaches.

The book uses five specific approaches to help readers develop and enhance the capabilities for this evolving world of disruptive agri-food production. First, it navigates the contemporary issues of agribusiness and also helps to explore the likely nuisance of agribusiness industry by 2050. Second, it provides an extensive coverage of the concepts from production to consumption. Third, the book gives an insight into the unique decision making tools in the agribusiness environment. Fourth, the book provides an inclusive illustration of the real life examples, models and case studies in the Agri-Food industry. Finally, the book offers an application based understanding of agribusiness and food industry from a futuristic perspective.

The author starts the book by describing the evolution of framework on agribusiness. The introduction help us to understand agribusiness management as a discipline, which can be studied and put into practice through alternative agricultural approaches to achieve better results. Enumerating in this context, the author describes agriculture as culture which refers to a community of commercial farming including, plantations, cropping one village one cluster product. The significance of sustainable development has escorted the development agencies to create grassroots institutional sustainability. But the shortage of sustainable and business oriented institutions at the grassroots remains a serious issue. Chapter 2 is a wonderful elucidation on the conceptual framework of institutionalization of sustainable agribusiness sector with various elements of FPOs/FPCs. The chapter further narrates how a producer's collective development at the grassroots must plan and develop the cluster of M4 viz. micro, meso, macro and mega levels in different phases.



Is it high time we need to give the benefit of value chain to enhance the confidence of producers? Chapter 3 is basically an answer to this question - the author illustrated four case analysis of major coffee retailers and explained the meaning of the concepts like agricultural value chain analysis and fishbone analysis.

Further, the concepts on strategic total crop planning with a holistic perspective on market intervention and the business models with examples from coconut industry on viable product development using "Neera" and matured coconut water are explained in chapters 4 and 5. It further explores a holistic perspective on understanding the strategic crop planning with special emphasis to Karnataka farming community in price realization with appropriate market intervention through value creation. The nine building blocks of Business model canvas with examples from Sri Lankan coconut sector has been wonderfully weaved by the author, helping us to understand the exercise on designing new business model from both an academic and practioners' perspective linking it to business outcomes. The chapter also illustrates the key components of the coconut start up to leverage its value proposition through Minimum Viable Product (MVP), Minimum Marketable Product (MMP) and Minimum Wellness Product (MWP).

The next chapter is an illuminating one as it discusses the role of talent management-in-practices (TIP) with in the VUCA perspectives. The chapter highlights the requirement of an adaptive leadership tactics and the need for the formation of talent networks across the nation. Chapter 8 narrates the journey of agriculture to "Farmaceuticals" through the conceptual framework of Tri sector viz. "Agriculture, Nutrient and Health (ANH) which offers invaluable information to the readers on the importance of immunity boosting and hormonal imbalance remedies through agriculture stream.

Finally the benefits of lean technology in terms of potential cost savings and the role of open innovation and its application in R& D organisation are also discussed in the last two chapters.

Thus, the most important lesson for anyone reading the book is that the world of agribusiness is constantly changing. The book takes distinctive approaches which would help readers improve their ability to cope and grow as agribusiness professionals. The material is quite pragmatic, contemporary and abstract with a special emphasis on making effective decisions. While the book focuses on management of agribusiness organisations, the strategies are effective from an individual level. The concepts propounded in the book can be integrated with various agribusiness literatures which highlights the need of a "face-lift "of the agriculture sector, through plenty of innovations.

IN THE HOUSE

Bengaluru-Mysuru road to be completed in December

PWD Minister CC Patil said the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway will be completed by this year-end. Replying to a question by MLC Marithibbegowda, Patil said the work was delayed due to Covid-19 and issues related to land acquisition, but now the works are in full swing and will be completed in December.

Temples to be developed, says Revenue Minister

Revenue Minister R Ashoka said that 205 'A' category Muzrai temples will get a facelift under the Daiva Sankalpa project. Replying to a query in the Council, the minister said 25 of them will be developed in the initial stage under the scheme. "All temples under Muzrai department will be developed in a phased manner," he said.

12 lakh farmers given Rs 971 cr as compensation: Ashoka

Revenue Minister R Ashoka informed the Council that around 12 lakh farmers have been provided a compensation of Rs 971 crore. He was replying to a question and said 13.68 lakh hectare land was hit by the floods this fiscal. He also said the government had written to the Centre to increase the compensation under the NDRF.

Income ceiling for housing scheme beneficiaries hiked

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday announced in the Assembly that the income ceiling for individuals eligible for getting a house under government schemes will be increased to Rs 1.2 lakh per annum from the present Rs 32,000 in rural and to Rs 2 lakh from Rs 87,000 in urban areas.

Salary hike to benefit 5 L employees, over 2.5 L posts vacant; move expected to benefit BJP in Assembly polls

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
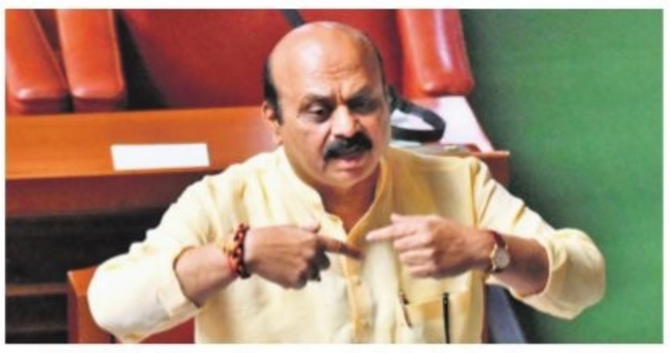
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday declared that the government will set up a commission shortly to give recommendations on revising salaries of about 5.12 lakh of its employees. With the next Assembly elections just a year ahead, the CM's decision is likely to have an impact on the poll outcome.

Impressed by the move, office-bearers of the Karnataka Government Employees' Association led by their president Shadakshari, called on the CM and congratulated him on Wednesday evening. Former chief minister B S Yediyurappa had earlier written to Bommai in favour of the employees.

The State Government employees have been demanding a hike in salaries on par with their counterparts in the central government following the 7th Pay Commission. They had felt let down when Bommai did not make any commitment in this regard in his budget.



Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai speaks during the Assembly session at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Wednesday | EXPRESS

"Since I had not made any announcement in the budget, the association office-bearers had called on me and put forth the demand. So, a commission will be set up as soon as possible which will study the salaries of the employees of other states and make recommendations", he told the Assembly while replying to the budget debate.

Replying to senior Congress leader H K Patil that over 3.5 lakh posts are vacant and 4.5 lakh employees have been outsourced, the CM said, "It is false, as only about 91,000, including 77,000 unskilled Group-D staff have been outsourced."

Opposition leader Siddaramaiah suggested that vacant posts should be filled, as continuing with outsourced staff will have an adverse effect, will amount to denial of reservation and goes againt the tenet of equal pay for equal work.

Employees' claim

If the salaries of employees hiked on par with the Central Government staff, the State will have to bear an additional Rs 10,656 crore annually. But the employees' association claims that they have been saving Rs 8,531 crore as 2,50,363 posts have remained vacant. So, the government has to spend Rs 2,125 crore additionally per annum, they argued.

Lokayukta to Gujarat: War of words rocks Council

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Legislative Council witnessed several rounds of heated debate between the Opposition and the Ruling parties over issues related to Lokayukta, untouchability, the Gujarat model, and others.

During the discussion on the budget, Congress MLC RB Thimmapur raised the issue of untouchability still being practised in certain parts of the country and the government should be ashamed of not eradicating it. The BJP members opposed the statement and said the Congress was responsible for it, since it was in power for decades.

As the leader of the floor and minister Shrinivas Poojari intervened, Opposition leader BK Hariprasad said it was not fair to give speeches when a member is talking and asked the chairman to direct Poojari to stop the speech.Thimmapur also said the BJP had cheated the people by promising in the manifesto that they would revive the Lokayukta if they came to power. In reply, BJP members said it was the Congress that had finished the anti-corruption institution and they had no moral right to question it.

When the MLC referred to PM Narendra Modi's name while talking about price hikes in essential commodities, BJP MLC Vishwanath intervened and asked why can't the Opposition look at the developments achieved by the PM. "He has done so much for Gujarat and hence the term 'Gujarat Model' was coined," he said.

KPCC president DK Shivakumar welcomes filmmaker S Narayan to the Congress fold on Wednesday

Congress targets 50 lakh new members by month-end

BENGALURU: The state unit of the Congress, which has started a digital membership drive, is targeting about 50 lakh new members by March-end, KPCC president D K Shivakumar said. Well-known Kannada movie director S Narayan joined the party on Wednesday. Speaking on the occasion, Shivakumar said that presently, more than 15 lakh people have enrolled as party members. In some booths, more than 1,000 people have joined. "Our partymen are working hard and we are expecting to enroll more members," he added.

Cong slams BJP's online onslaught

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

EVEN as AICC chairperson Sonia Gandhi on Wednesday said social media is being abused to hack democracy, state Congress leaders nodded in agreement.

Opposition Leader Siddaramaiah said, "BJP is like a factory manufacturing lies. The party's practice is to convincingly present lies as truth. The common people will not fall prey to it all the time. Surely one day it will boomerang on BJP." Opposition Leader in the Council BK Hariprasad said, "They have used social media to spew venom against minorities and if this spate of lies and deceptions continues, it threatens to transform the Indian democracy into a mere Banana Republic. But remember, our people are not gullible and will not allow that."

Former minister Priyank Kharge said, "We in Congress too have a robust social media presence to battle the lies and false claims of BJP at the grassroots level."

A medical practitioner turned MLA Dr Ranganath Doddaiah said, "Social Media platforms originally intended to spread warmth and friendship have been converted to spread hate, lies and deceptions by certain right wing groups."

CAG for setting up road management bodies

IT recommended setting a target for road management authorities to clear road hazards in a time-bound manner.

CAG objected to nearly 70 per cent of vacancies in senior positions of inspectors of motor vehicles (IMVs) that has impacted the overall quality of checks, including testing and issuing of driving licences and fitness certificates to vehicles. "A large number of vehicles were plying on roads without renewal of theirs RCs or FCs. Investigating authorities were not capturing the surface conditions, visual conditions and even environmental factors in their databases to analyse the cause of road accidents. Even the highway patrolling introduced was diverted for other purposes and lacked trained personnel," it stated.

It said the health department did not prepare any action plan to set up trauma care centres in 22 districts. Accident victims did not receive timely medical care in 90,000 instances since April 2014 that can be attributed to either base location of ambulance being far away or pre-trip getting delayed.

THREE-TIME BJP MLC LEFT OUT IN THE COLD

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THREE-term MLC G Madhusudan being overlooked for renomination has shocked his supporters who were all ready for campaigning with four sets of voter lists, and 50,000 forms to enrol new members, stationary and huge stacks of other material piled up. With Madhusudhan out of the race, his supporters handed over the election paraphernalia to the BJP office-bearers with a wry smile.

Madhusudan, who represented the South Graduates constituency for 18 years, had been preparing for the next election for the past seven months. However, only at the last minute, he was told that the party will not consider him for a seat, much like what happened to Tejaswini Ananthkumar, his supporters say. In hushed tones, they even blame BJP leader B L Santhosh, with whom Madhusudhan shares an uneasy relationship.

Santhosh and Madhusudhan go back to the Mysuru BJP unit two decades ago where the former served as RSS pracharak and the latter, also from the RSS background, had returned from terror-stricken Punjab after serving there as a volunteer for two years. He was also a very popular speaker during the Ram Janma Bhoomi movement.

Their differences came to the fore when Madhusudhan batted for B S Yediyurappa's return when BJP was decimated in the 2013 Assembly polls with just 40 seats, much against Santosh's wishes. Yediyurappa's re-entry helped bring the BJP back to power in 2019 in the state and the party managed 25 Lok Sabha seats. Madhusudhan's supporters recalled that RSS leader Maicha Jaidev had directed him to bring Yediyurappa back to the BJP fold. If Madhusudhan had won for a fourth term, he would have been a strong contender for a ministerial berth when the reshuffle takes place.

'Order will curb Muslim women's contributions'

ENS @ Bengaluru

SEVERAL organisations have expressed their disappointment over the verdict of the Karnataka High Court in the hijab case.

Representatives from Bahutva Karnataka, Jamaat-E-Islami, Dalit Minority Sene, Karnataka Girls Islamic Organisation, Dalit Sangharsh Samiti (Bhimavada), and People's Union for Civil Liberties expressed concern over how the order will be used against minorities in the state. "We have a fear that the same misinterpretation that occurred with the interim order will occur with this as well, and incidents will happen where authorities try to apply the order where it is not applicable. This will also lead to a restriction of contribution from Muslim women to society, with the suppressing of their education," claimed Sumaiya Roshan, president of the Karnataka Girls Islamic Organisation, on Wednesday.

Firdouse Khan, from Bahutva Karnataka, said that it was imperative for the media to report on the happenings of the issue in an accurate way. "Due to misconceptions reported as fact by the media, many were under the assumption that the hijab is banned in Karnataka and that the girls are not ready to wear their uniforms. Both of these are false... the girls have always been in favour of wearing uniforms. All they have asked for is that whatever dupatta or shawl they are provided, they wear on their heads," she said.

Ameer-E-Shariat calls for statewide bandh today

BENGALURU: The Karnataka State Ameer-E-Shariat Maulana Sagir Ahmad Khan Rashadi called for a complete full-day bandh on Wednesday, in response to the Karnataka High Court's verdict on the hijab row. Rashadi appealed to all Muslims to join in the bandh, which is to take place on March 17. In a video statement, he expressed his disappointment with the verdict, however, asking all members to familiarise themselves with it and to follow it strictly. However, the bandh will be held to express the community's anger over the verdict, he said on Wednesday. Further, he appealed to community members to not engage in any violent behaviour. ENS

Community worried about future of girls' edu

ENS @ Udupi

A day after the Karnataka High Court pronounced its verdict in the hijab case, ruling that the headscarf is not an essential part of Islamic religious practice, community leaders are worried that many who follow the practice of wearing hijab, will be unable to do so if they wish to continue their education.

Idrees Hoode, vice-president of Udupi Zilla Muslim Okkoota, told TNIE that several girls from poor and middle-class families will be severely affected as they will be unable to attend classes with hijab now, a practice they followed prior to the verdict. Other religious leaders of the community too have echoed a similar sentiment.

Other Udupi Jilla Muslim Okkoota office-bearers have also expressed unhappiness over the High Court verdict on the hijab row. Moulana Imranulla Khan Mansuri, Imam of Jamia Masjid in Malpe, said that hijab is an essential religious practice in Islam. The judgment of the court has not only deprived the children of their religious right, but also their right to continue their education.

Students protest in front of a private college in Chamarajanagar on Wednesday

Separate room sought to write exam in hijab

ENS @ Mysuru

A day after the Karnataka High Court's verdict in the hijab case, about 10 students of a private college in Chamarajanagar launched a placard campaign demanding that their college authorities allow them to attend classes wearing hijab.

The students who stood outside the college premises claimed that hijab was their right and said, "We need education and also hijab. We urge that we be allowed to attend classes wearing the headscarf."

"The Constitution has granted us the right to wear it, but the court's verdict has dissatisfied us. We will continue our fight in the Supreme Court," the students said.

Until the apex court hears and pronounces its verdict, students should be allowed into classes with hijab, they urged, while demanding that they be provided a separate room for writing their examination. They claimed that when the government college allowed students to enter wearing the hijab, the management of the private college was not allowing it.

When contacted, college principal R M Swamy told TNIE that they are following directions of the government and want every student to come in uniform.

He added that the college had a uniform for decades and the students cutting across religions have been coming to class in the prescribed uniform, adhering to management rules and regulations.

Students boycott classes in S'mogga, C'magaluru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

A day after the Karnataka High Court upheld the hijab ban on college campuses, a few Muslim girl students boycotted colleges in Shivamogga and Chikkamagaluru and staged protests, saying that wearing hijab is their Constitutional right.

The students at IDSG Government College staged a protest on Wednesday after the college refused to allow them inside the campus wearing hijab and burqa. The students stated that wearing hijab is their fundamental right. They added that they are upset with the High Court's order. An internal exam was scheduled, but the students refused to write it. They said that the HC order will be challenged in the Supreme Court. Later, the protesters returned home.

Meanwhile, some students at Kamala Nehru Memorial National College for Women boycotted classes, after the college refused to let them in with hijab and burqa, as per the State Government's notification and the High Court's order.

The students staged a protest in front of the college and urged the government to allow them to attend classes wearing hijab and burqa. However, they returned home after the college refused to let them in. The police was prepared to prevent any untoward incidents. Meanwhile, students in other colleges attended classes wearing prescribed uniforms.

In Davanagere, though a holiday was declared for their college, a few students staged a protest in front of the First Grade College and demanded that Muslim girls be allowed to attend classes wearing hijab. The students said they will not attend classes till justice is done.

HIJAB ROW UNRESOLVED IN KAUP COLLEGE

UDUPI: Despite the Karnataka High Court ruling that the hijab is not an essential Islamic religious practice and the state-prescribed uniform rule is not a violation of the fundamental right of students for freedom of expression, a batch of nine students at Government First Grade College, Kaup, sought permission from the Principal to permit them attend classes with hijab. As the examination is going on now, students wanted to write the examination, but with hijab, inside the classroom. The Principal, Dr Anil Kumar, reportedly convinced the students to follow the court verdict and write the exam inside the classroom after removing the hijab in a separately arranged room. There are 17 Muslim girls studying in this college. While four students obeyed the court order and appeared for the examination, nine students did not agree to write the exam without hijab and returned home. Students Rizana and Shahnaz claimed that hijab was not an issue in any educational institutions earlier. ENS

Cadres of Tamil Nadu Munnetra Kazhagam (TMMK) burned copies of the Karnatka High Court order on hijab during a protest in Chennai on Wednesday. The police have registered several cases against the protesters under IPC 143, 188, 285 and 269.

Tahsildar can conduct land surveys: HC

Has powers to settle municipal disputes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday held that the tahsildar has jurisdiction to conduct a survey and fix the boundaries of the land situated within the limits of municipal corporation also, under Section 140 (2) of the Karnataka Land Revenue Act.

A division bench of Justices Alok Aradhe and S Vishwajith Shetty passed the order while allowing an appeal filed by Sunil Chajed, a resident of Basavanagudi in Bengaluru, questioning the validity of the order dated October 1, 2020 passed by a single judge.

"If at the time of the survey, boundary of any survey number or subdivision of a survey number or a holding is disputed, shall be fixed by survey officer in accordance with the land records relating to the land and after making such enquiry as he considers necessary. Section 140(2) of the Act provides that if any dispute arises concerning the boundary of survey number, the Tahsildar shall decide the dispute having due regard to the land records. Thus, it is evident that Tahsildar under Section 140(2) of the Act has power to determine the boundary of a survey number. This power can be exercised in respect of a survey number or a holding irrespective of the fact whether the same is situated within the municipal limits or outside the municipal limits," the court said.

IN THE HC

It noted that the single judge has taken into account Section 112-D of the Karnataka Municipal Corporation Act, which deals with the powers of the commissioner to survey lands and buildings. This provision has no bearing on this case of whether the tahsildar has jurisdiction to decide the matter pertaining to fixing the boundary of lands, it added.

HC upholds order on varsity V-C appointment

BENGALURU : A division bench of High Court of Karnataka on Wednesday confirmed the order passed by a single-judge bench, setting aside the appointment of Prof K R Venugopal as vice-chancellor of Bangalore University, as the concurrence of the state government was not obtained by the chancellor before appointing him. A division bench of Justice S Sujatha and Justice Shivashankar Amarannavar dismissed the appeals filed against the order passed by the single judge on September 24, 2019.

Kerala Cong resists high command diktat

CYNTHIA CHANDRAN @ T'Puram

REFUSING to take lessons from its successive poll debacles, the Congress high command seems to be inclined to go ahead with the same old script of imposing its nominee over the choice of the state unit in the Rajya Sabha elections in Kerala. However for a change, the party's state leadership refused to budge and asserted that its proposal should be given preference.

State Congress president K Sudhakaran not only conveyed to the high command that its nominee Sreenivasan Krishnan was not acceptable for the state leadership which prefered young leader M Liju. Sudhakaran didn't stop there. He accompanied Liju to meet Rahul Gandhi in New Delhi on Wednesday in an attempt to convince the central leadership on the importance of the issue.

Liju is a member of the Congress political affairs committee and former Alappuzha district president. As per the numbers in the state assembly, Congress can win one of the three seats to which elections will be held, and the final decision on candidate will be taken by the high command within two days.

TNIE reported on Tuesday about how 58-year-old Thrissur native and national Congress secretary in charge of Telangana, Sreenivasan had emerged as a strong contender for the seat. This is not the first time he has evinced keen interest in electoral politics. During 2009 Lok Sabha election, Sreenivsan lobbied for Chalakudy constituency. In subsequent assembly poll too, he made an attempt for a seat. But he did not succeed on both occasions. He is learnt to be close to Robert Vadra, husband of Priyanka Gandhi.

"All these have been rumours as my association with Robert Vadra had lasted only for a few days sometime back. The Congress is looking for an articulate leader," said Sreenivasan.

Man who planted bomb at MIA gets 20 years jail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mangaluru

THE Fourth Additional District and Sessions Court here on Wednesday convicted Adithya Rao to 20 years rigorous imprisonment after convicting him in a case related to planting a bomb at Mangaluru International Airport (MIA) on January 20, 2020.

Adithya Rao

Police Commissioner N Shashi Kumar in a statement said that the convict under Section 4 of Explosive Substances Act 1908, was sentenced to five years rigorous imprisonment and imposed a fine of ₹10,000. He will have to serve 6 months simple imprisonment if he fails to pay the fine.

Further, under Section 16 of the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act 1967, he was awarded 20 years rigourous imprisonment and fined ₹10,000, failing which he has to serve another 6 months simple imprisonment. Both punishments will run concurrently. The court examined a total of 56 witnesses in the case.

Beyond Carlton inks MoU with Odisha on fire safety

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

INDIA'S first citizen-led initiative on fire safety, Beyond Carlton on Wednesday signed an MoU with the Odisha State Disaster Management Authority (OSDMA), Department of Revenue and Disaster Management, for a comprehensive fire safety framework and develop a plan for the twin cities of Bhubaneshwar and Cuttack which have witnessed several fire incidents in recent past. The MoU will help in developing a strategic vision on fire safety for Odisha.

RA Venkitachalam, Trustee, Beyond Carlton, said, "The issues we wish to address through this MoU includes creating a Home Fire Preparedness plan, identification of unsafe buildings which lack fire safety compliances and a web-based fire incidence reporting mechanism. We will also empanel fire safety contractors, digitize fire safety NOCs and formulate PPP approach. to improve a coordination mechanism."

Pradeep Kumar Jena, Additional Chief Secretary of, OSDMA, said, "A strong fire safety infrastructure is key to a disaster-resilient city.

Re-strategising project, says zilla panchayat CEO

IN addition, the project comes with the condition that the water supplied should only be surface water and borewell water is permitted only in cases where surface water is not available. "We tried to dig borewells. But as the water level is deep, it was becoming prohibitively expensive and unfeasible," said the officer. The project has hit the wall in hilly parts of Joida, Kumta, Siddapur and other taluks.

M Priyanga, Chief Executive Officer, Uttara Kannada Zilla Panchayat, agreed that the cost of the project is high in these regions. "I have spoken to the chief engineer and we are now planning to re-strategise the project. I personally visited all the taluks where the implementation has taken a backseat. The new strategy will reduce the price by about 30 per cent by redesigning overhead tanks," she said.

In the first phase, around 45,000 houses were connected in 2020-21. another 45,000 houses will be connected 2021-22 and 80,000 houses in 2022-23, she added.

IMPACT OF HIJAB VERDICT IN PRIVATE SPACES UNMAPPABLE

We may not have heard the last of the #HijabBan. The Supreme Court will be hearing the appeals against the Karnataka High Court judgment, upholding the state executive's ban on the hijab or headscarf in schools and pre-university colleges (PUCs), after Holi. On Tuesday, a three-member Bench of the Karnataka High Court held that the hijab is non-essential to the practice of Islam, and therefore any prescription of uniform that disallows students from wearing hijabs in classrooms is not in violation of fundamental rights. Nor can it be deemed as running contrary, the court ruled, to constitutional rights given to citizens under Articles 14, 15 and 19(1)—equality, non-discrimination and freedom of expression. The latter part is being challenged in the Supreme Court.

The High Court has taken the view that a school dress code that proscribes the hijab, bhagwa or any other religious apparel "can be a step forward in the direction of emancipation, and more particularly, to the access of education". A school without uniform, as per the ruling, is unimaginable. Furthermore, the judgment sees schools in the same light as courts, war rooms and defence camps—"qualified public spaces" where individual freedoms are curtailed to maintain discipline and decorum. The Udupi girls fighting for their right to wear the hijab in their PUC classrooms are not convinced. Unsurprisingly, they have escalated the matter to the highest court, even while claiming that it should have been resolved, locally, long ago.

Will this ruling act as a deterrent or exclusionary force, acting to discourage Muslim girls from conservative backgrounds from pursuing an education? The true extent and nature of the impact this will have in private spaces is unmappable. What is a known reality is that religious modesty is not always left to the personal discretion of females, especially in public spaces (where it can mark them out for social isolation and bullying).

PERMANENT SOLUTION NEEDED FOR TN FISHERS

Amid the Ukraine student predicament, Tamil Nadu's other—perennial—'foreign' crisis took a back seat. Since 2009 when the civil war ended in the island nation, TN's fishers have faced arrest, violence and even death in Sri Lankan waters while in pursuit of a good catch. Since the death of a Tamil fisher in October, tensions have increased with the state's fishers being arrested or detained by the neighbouring country's forces on a regular basis. While they allege ill-treatment and high-handedness from the Lankan forces, their crossing of the International Maritime Boundary Line (IMBL) for a better catch comes at the cost of the livelihood of Lankan Tamils, as the TN fishers practise the ecologically destructive bottom trawling—all trawling is banned in Sri Lanka. On the other hand, Lankan Tamil fishers mostly practise traditional fishing and have been struggling to rebuild their lives after the long civil war.

While the Union and state governments have tried their best to have arrested TN fishers released and repatriated, less effort has gone into a long-term solution for the problem. Experts have said transitioning TN's fishers from trawling to deep sea fishing will help by easing tensions between the two fishing communities. To this end, the Union government in 2017 announced the Palk Bay scheme to provide 2,000 deep sea fishing boats to fishers in three districts within three years. The boats would be funded by the Union and state governments with the owner paying a component of the cost. However, fishers have complained that the cost per unit is too low and release of funds too slow. Till 2021, less than 50 such vessels have launched in the state.

Given the cost of the vessels (about ₹1.2 crore), not all in the fishing community will be able to transition from bottom trawling—which hurts the long-term viability of local livelihood as well, pushing them towards more risks—without significant state support and incentives. Till such time the effort is made, fishers on both sides of the IMBL will continue to live on the edge.

WHAT PAROTTA AND PIZZA DISPUTES TELL US ABOUT GST RATES

PROSENJIT DATTA

Senior business journalist

SOUMYADIP SINHA

A recent judgment by a Bench of the Haryana Appellate Authority for Advanced Ruling (AAAR) has provoked much hilarity while giving indigestion to the Khera Trading Company based in Panipat. The ruling involved the distinction between a pizza base, cheese and pizza toppings made with cheese. Pizza base and mozzarella cheese both attract 12% GST. Pizza sold in a restaurant attracts 5% GST without input credit while pizza delivered to your home has a GST of 18% but with input credit. So what GST should be levied on a pizza topping made with mozzarella cheese?

Khera Trading, among other things, makes and sells pizza toppings with mozzarella cheese, milk solids and vegetable oils as the main ingredients. The company's argument was that its pizza toppings contained 14.5% mozzarella cheese and 15% of other milk products. Hence, it said this should be taxed at the same rate as processed cheese.

The Bench of Amit Kumar Agrawal and Anil Kumar Jain were distinctly unimpressed by the company's line of thinking. They upheld the judgment of the Authority for Advanced Ruling (AAR) pointing out that not only did the Khera Trading pizza topping contain plenty of vegetable fat, the process of blending and heating of the mozzarella cheese resulted in an end product that could not be classified as processed cheese. It should instead be classified as "food preparation otherwise not specified or included" and taxed at 18%, it said.

While the ruling caused much mirth on social media, it was not unexpected. A similar dispute had cropped up earlier in the case of breaded cheese sold by a company in Uttar Pradesh.

Neither is cheese—or for that matter pizza—the only products that have caused tax tribunals to spend quality time interpreting how a product should be classified—and hence taxed. A few years ago, a Karnataka Bench of AAR had decided that the Malabar parotta could by no means be compared with the humble readymade roti. Its view was that while the GST rate for readymade rotis was 5%, the Malabar parotta should come under the category of miscellaneous edible preparations and hence be taxed at 18%.

Classification disputes over taxes are more common than the layperson realises. Nor are they confined to food stuff and GST either. In the past, disputes have cropped up over the definition of coconut oil vs hair oil (if coconut oil is sold as an edible oil, it attracted one duty, while hair oils made with coconut oil attracted another duty), chappals vs sandals and cycle locks vs normal locks (should a cycle lock be treated as a cycle accessory or as a lock?). There have also been multiple classification disputes over customs duties on imports.

Where there are different rates of taxes on different goods, classification disputes will always arise as will people looking for loopholes and broad definitions to pay lower taxes. This is why bureaucrats spend months writing down detailed descriptions of products and services and the taxes they will attract and also in defining what does not fall under a particular classification. In any modern economy, the sheer number of goods and services and variations of even simple products make this a nightmare for those drafting the rules.

Can tax slabs be done away with altogether? Not really because a uniform rate is iniquitous when there is huge income inequality. But tax slabs certainly can be reduced.

The number of slabs in GST are not merely because detailed calculations were made for revenue neutral rates that would ensure that tax amounts did not fall sharply because of a uniform, lower rate. Indian taxpayers also need to deal with what policymakers think of as "undesirable" or "luxuries" for the common populace. This is a mindset issue that has plagued India since Independence when the government had consciously chosen a socialist path. But long after the economic reforms that were initiated in 1991, the mindset continues—which is why a number of goods and services that are no longer in short supply or could be considered as luxury consumption items in a modern economy attract usurious rates of taxation. It has also led to lobbying for lower tax rates on specific classifications though similar goods might attract higher tax rates. Cars of different lengths being taxed differently is an example.

Lawmakers, while working out GST rates, have often argued that certain goods and services need to be taxed more because they are "luxuries" as they are only consumed by well-off people. The counter argument that is overlooked is that if these goods and services were taxed at a lower rate, would they become affordable to even the not-so-well off and hence actually fetch the government better tax revenues than higher taxes that crimp their volumes? Equally, the government needs to realise that classification disputes clogging up courts lead to enormous productivity loss that hurts the country's growth.

When it comes to the multiple customs duty rates, one can still argue that there is a certain clearly discernible economic philosophy. If you want to discourage imports of specific goods and encourage their domestic production, tax rates can be a valid tool for policymakers. But that does not apply to GST rates in general. And that is why reducing the number of tax slabs and cesses and simplifying the GST structure would benefit everyone.

HEALTH INFRA IN BUDGET 22, A MISSED OPPORTUNITY

AMAR PATNAIK

BJD Rajya Sabha MP, ex-CAG bureaucrat with a PhD in management and now an advocate

The Omicron wave has led to a shortage of healthcare workers throughout the world. In India, healthcare infrastructure wasn't overwhelmed as was seen during the second wave, mainly due to patients recovering from home quarantine. However, this was no time for complacency as the WHO and experts around the world were warning against more fatal variants in the future. The time, therefore, was ripe to revamp the overall health infrastructure in the country, from the level of the primary health centres (PHC) to the district hospitals (DH) in the next two-three years, starting right from Budget 2022—just as has been done for building resilience against natural disasters. Instead of a piecemeal incremental model of expansion in gross allocation terms usually followed due to the paucity of funds, the pandemic called for clear goals to convert all PHCs and DHs to a certain level, assess the shortfall and make provision for the amount required to meet these gaps. However, the Budget proposals, though they speak about the resilience of the existing health set-up including the frontline workers to successfully negotiate the pandemic, fall woefully short in providing for augmentation of this infrastructure. The total allocation at ₹86,606 crore is a mere 2.19% of the total BE 2022–23 and 0.33% of the GDP compared to last year's 0.37% (2021–2022) and 0.32% of the year before the last (2020–2021). Comparison in GDP terms is more realistic than using absolute values that might appear to be higher than the previous year. This is indeed a disappointment and a missed opportunity that India would rue in the event of another health hazard or pandemic.

The two vital aspects that are to be taken into consideration in health are: the upgradation of physical infrastructure and increasing the workforce.

Firstly, as per the findings of the High-Level Group on Health Sector, India has only 1 bed per 1,000 people, way below the global average of 2.9. As per the World Bank, Sri Lanka and China with 4.2 and 4.3 beds per 1,000 people perform significantly better than India. While the National Health Policy envisages increasing this to 2 beds per 1,000, geographic access to healthcare with a 30-minute travel time is a simple but meaningful indicator. Innovative solutions using technology have led to cost-effective e-ambulances in Estonia that are powered by solar panels. This author also custom-fabricated auto-ambulances and supplied them in Sundergarh district of Odisha. This has significantly improved accessibility and affordability, especially in rural settings. The government must encourage such small but impactful innovations.

Even though private players are already there in the tertiary healthcare sector, they must be incentivised to invest in primary and secondary healthcare through Public-Private Partnership (PPP) models. Private hospitals in cities must develop some primary and community healthcare facilities as their satellite centres (as currently done by the All India Institute of Medical Sciences) with diagnostics and equipment for simple medical procedures and surgeries. Under the National Health Mission, the invitation for bids for PPP for the maintenance of PHCs and sub-centres is encouraging. The success story of PPP in Bangladesh through the non-profit BRAC helping the healthcare providers and improving the capacity of PHCs could be implemented in rural India.

> The various health insurance and assurance schemes announced by the Central and state governments will not be very fruitful unless the root problem of inadequate health infrastructure is addressed. The government should have thought outside the box and provided a massive outlay. There is a need to revisit the Budget proposals

Secondly, against the WHO recommended 1 doctor per 1,000 people, India has 1 for every 1,511 people as per the report of the 15th Finance Commission. Similarly, the nurse to population ratio in India is 1:670, while the WHO norm is 1:300. As seen in the World Bank data, India and South Africa have nearly 0.9 physicians per 1,000 people but still fare poorly when compared to countries such as Russia and China, which have 4.4 and 2 physicians respectively.

The attainment of this target can be facilitated by opening government or private medical hospitals and colleges in every district. The process and the various stages of issuing approvals for private medical hospitals and colleges must be completely simplified, as currently, it requires around 30 licences for a multi-speciality hospital to come up. All it does is not improve healthcare but increase rent in the system for middlemen and bureaucrats. The recent relaxation of land requirements for the construction of colleges by the Medical Council of India is welcome. Shifting away from high upfront pre-project compliance and transaction costs, importance should be given to monitoring the quality of patient care and tariffs charged by these units. Countless healthcare procedures and products attract different tariffs; therefore, a uniform fee structure with tariff bands for different procedures set by an independent committee can make such healthcare affordable and equitable.

Hundreds of doctors and healthcare workers have been fighting against the virus for more than two years now and face possible burnout. It is worthwhile to consider Dr Devi Shetty's suggestion to train the undergraduate qualified doctors who have not passed the PG-NEET examination and get them into our healthcare ecosystem instead of letting them veer away to other avenues of employment.

The various health insurance and assurance schemes announced by the Central and state governments will not be very fruitful unless the root problem of inadequate health infrastructure is addressed. The government should have thought outside the box and provided a massive outlay to establish the best healthcare infrastructure, at least amongst medium-income countries in the next three-four years, to bridge this gap at one go. As a percentage of GDP, India's expenditure on public health (0.33% of GDP) is too low compared to Norway (11.3%), Finland (7.7%) and Singapore (4.5%). There is a need to revisit the Budget proposals and grab the opportunity.

SC stay welcome

The Supreme Court's order staying a HC verdict that upheld the Centre's action in banning the telecast of the Kerala-based TV news channel MediaOne has come as a shot in the arm for the fourth estate (Mar 16). A situation where the channel concerned is itself kept in the dark about the reasons for non-renewal of its licence is a frightening prospect as any network that is not favourably disposed to the government in power could be arbitrarily banned.

Against dynastic politics

This is with reference to Kept dynastic politics out in BJP, says Modi (Mar 16). The PM has warned party leaders that they should not expect positions for their progeny and pointed out that he had stepped in to prevent tickets from being given to children of MPs during the recent elections. It is good that the PM spoke out against dynastic politics.

Pension for party cadre

The expenses towards pension to personal staff of ministers have gone up substantially this year (Mar 16). Party supporters are appointed by ministers through the backdoor and after two years and one day (which would be counted as three years so as to be eligible), they can be removed and another group appointed so that two sets of people get pension. The number of such personal staff is already the highest in Kerala, which would be further doubled by this technique. The Kerala Governor has already spoken out against the disgraceful procedure, though in a different context. There is no distinction between the UDF and LDF on the issue as nepotism and corruption are common to all politicians.

Sycophancy inside House

I beg to differ with Sambit Patra. The temple of democracy is not the right place to chant "Modi, Modi" (Mar 15). It not only amounts to sycophancy but is also unparliamentary behaviour. Outside Parliament, they can hail him in whatever way they want. Even the PM appeared embarrassed. Though he did not show any displeasure inside the House, one hopes he takes the MPs to task.

Over 2.6 lakh take the shot as vax drive starts for 12-14 age group

Around 4.71 crore to be inoculated in this section, PM Modi urges everyone to come forward

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AS many as 2.6 lakh children in the age group of 12-14 years were jabbed against Covid-19 with Corebevax vaccine on Wednesday, as India expanded its vaccination programme.

"On the first day, more than 2 lakh (2,60,136) adolescents have been administered with the first dose of Covid-19 vaccine. More than 2.15 crore (2,15,44,283) precaution doses for the identified categories of beneficiaries (frontline, medical health workers and those above 60) for Covid vaccination have been administered so far," said the health ministry in a statement issued late in the evening.

An estimated 4.71 crore children aged 12-14 will be vaccinated, while about 13.75 crore people above 60 will be eligible for booster shots, according to the health ministry.

The ministry also said that the daily vaccination tally is expected to increase with the compilation of the final reports by late night. The ministry said as many as 52,621 people above the age of 60 years were given precaution doses on Wednesday, as the government removed the co-morbidity clause for them to get the booster dose.

As many as 6,945 people above 60 years received their first dose, while 89,883 were given the second dose on Wednesday. Booster doses are given nine months after the second dose, the ministry said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi made special appeals to children to get their first shots and senior citizens to have booster doses, asserting that the vaccination programme is science-driven and people-oriented. "Today is an important day in India's efforts to vaccinate our citizens. I urge people in these age groups to get vaccinated," Modi said.

Over the last year, India's vaccination drive has been people-powered, the Prime Minister added in a tweet.

MP to start 12-14 vax drive after March 22

In Madhya Pradesh, vaccination of nearly 30 lakh children in the age group of 12-14 years against coronavirus will start after March 22 once training is given to the frontline staff, a senior health official said on Wednesday. The vaccination drive for children in this age group began in most other states on Tuesday in line with the Centre's announcement. Vaccination centres are being set up in schools across the 52 districts in Madhya Pradesh.

US duplicity on India buying oil from Russia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

INDIA has accepted Russia's offer of crude oil at a discounted rate. According to White House, this is not a violation of American sanctions against Russia for invading Ukraine.

"Our message to any country continues to be that abide by the sanctions that we have put in place and recommended," White House press secretary Jen Psaki said at a news conference on Tuesday.

"I don't believe this would be violating that (sanctions). But also think about where you want to stand when history books are written at this moment in time. Support for the Russian leadership is support for an invasion that obviously is having a devastating impact," Psaki added.

India has not supported the Russian invasion of Ukraine. New Delhi has consistently asked all stakeholders to resolve differences through dialogue. It has, however, abstained in all United Nations resolutions against Russia.

Sonia urges Centre to curb influence of social media on political field

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

EXPRESSING concern over "systematic influence and interference" of social media in electoral politics, Congress president Sonia Gandhi on Wednesday said that global companies such as Facebook and Twitter are being used increasingly to shape political narratives by leaders, parties and their proxies.

Sonia was speaking during zero hours in Lok Sabha. She urged the government to prevent their intrusion to protect 'democracy and social harmony' in the country.

"It has repeatedly come to public notice that global social media companies aren't providing a level playing field to all parties. Blatant manner in which social harmony is being disturbed by Facebook in connivance with the ruling establishment is dangerous for our democracy," said the Congress leader.

She described it as an issue of paramount importance and warned against "the rising danger of social media being abused to hack our democracy." She further said that new reports show a growing nexus between big corporations, the ruling establishment and global social media giants like Facebook and Twitter.

The Congress chief also added that young and old minds are being 'filled with hate' through emotionally charged disinformation and proxy advertising companies like Facebook are profiting from it.

"Young and old minds are being filled with hate through emotionally charged disinformation and proxy advertising companies like Facebook are aware of it and are profiting from it. I urge the government of India to put an end to the systematic influence and interference of Facebook and other social media giants in electoral politics of the world's largest democracy. This is beyond parties and politics. We need to protect our democracy and social harmony regardless of who is in power," the Congress chief said.

As UP observer, Shah set to launch Mission '24

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE appointment of Union Home Minister Amit Shah as the observer for the formation of new government in Uttar Pradesh has aims galore. BJP's chief poll strategist, who has been shoring up the party's poll prospects since 2014, Shah has now become well versed with the political tone and tenor of UP. He has again been given the job of drawing the roadmap for the second term of the Yogi Adityanath government, which may also serve as the template for 'Mission 2024'.

In the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, Narendra Modi will be seeking a third consecutive term to the office of Prime Minister.

A per BJP sources, Yogi's new cabinet will take shape under the stewardship of Shah.

Enviable record

Whenever Amit Shah has drawn BJP's election strategy in UP, the party has done exceedingly well. Senior leders say Shah understands the UP chemistry better than anyone else

After the resounding victory in 2014 Lok Sabha elections, when BJP grabbed 73 of the 80 UP seats, Shah took over as BJP's national chief. In 2017, the party, then at number three after SP and BSP in UP, fought Assembly polls following Shah's strategy and registered a big victory. In 2017, BJP was pitched against SP-Congress and in 2019 Lok Sabha polls, faced the challenge of the SP-BSP alliance. On both occasions, BJP registered thumping wins.

"Shah has come to understand the political pulse of UP better than anyone else," said a senior BJP leader, explaining his role. This time, Shah's first task is forming a cabinet with caste and regional balance and equal representation for all. He also faces the challenge of accommodating allies who have emerged stronger. BJP's two allies are Apna Dal (S) and NISHAD. Apna Dal (S) won 12 of the 18 seats it contested, while NISHAD won six out of 10.

However, BJP has kept its cards close to its chest so far, about the UP cabinet. Also, the party will seek to consolidate its position further among the Jats and other castes in western UP, where the Rashtriya Lok Dal has seen a partial revival. Attention will be given to adequate representation of western UP in the cabinet, since BJP has to strengthen itself there after the defeat of prominent faces like Suresh Rana and Sangeet Som.

Will create employment avenues, Mann ki baat after swearing-in

We'll ensure changes in education & work out employment channels to stop the youth from going abroad. Our journey to usher in reforms in agriculture, health & education starts today

Bhagwant Mann, Punjab CM

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

IN his first address as the new Chief Minister of Punjab, Bhagwant Mann on Wednesday appealed to the people to be humble and modest. He said the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) government belongs to every resident of Punjab. There was a sea of yellow turbans and dupattas at the swearing-in ceremony at Khatkar Kalan village, the birthplace of freedom fighter Bhagat Singh.

Governor Banwarilal Purohit administered the oath of office to Mann, who took oath in Punjabi. The ceremony supposed to start at 12.30 pm got delayed by nearly an hour.

Mann said this government will work to address issues like unemployment, corruption and farmers' plight. "Work starts from today itself. We will not waste a single day. We will ensure qualitative change in education and work out employment channels to stop them from going abroad as our long journey to end unemployment, usher reforms in agriculture, improve hospitals and transform education begins. We are already late by 70 years," he said. He added that people will visit Punjab just like they visit Delhi to see its schools and mohalla clinics.

Newly-elected AAP MLAs along with the party's national convener Arvind Kejriwal, Delhi Deputy CM Manish Sisodia and other leaders were wearing yellow turbans. Mann asked party workers to be honest and polite while interacting with people and asked them to refrain from sending wrong signals on social media. He also said that their opponents are their own people and one should show respect to them.

He said the people of Punjab have created history by electing AAP. "In coming years, it will be taught that when did people started voting without fear and greed? The reply will be February 20, 2022," said the new chief minister.

CM'S CHILDREN FLY DOWN FROM US

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann's children — daughter Seerat (21) and son Dilshan (17) — attended the swearing-in ceremony. Both have travelled from the US to be present at the ocassion. A number of singers and artists, including Gurdas Mann, Karamjit Anmol, singer-turned-politician and Congress MP Mohammad Sadique and Amar Noorie, were present at the event in Khatkar Kalan village.

CONG MP'S CHORD OF DISCONTENT

Bickering in Congress continues. Party MP Manish Tewari said that AAP had invited him for Bhagwant Mann's swearing-in ceremony, although he was not invited when former chief minister Charanjit Singh Channi of Congress had taken oath last year. Thanking Mann, he tweeted: "Due to Parliament being in session, I will not be able to make it." Tewari is an MP from Punjab's Anandpur Sahib constituency.

SIDHU, UP CONG CHIEF STEP DOWN

Following party president Sonia Gandhi's instruction a day earlier, Navjot Singh Sidhu on Wednesday stepped down as the president of Punjab Congress. The party's Uttar Pradesh chief Ajay Kumar Lallu also tendered his resignation. Following the party's disastrous performance in five states where Assembly elections were held, Sonia had asked all the state unit presidents to tender resignations.

Northeast situation better, RS told

New Delhi: Security situation in Northeastern states has improved since 2014 and insurgency violence in the region has come down by nearly 74 per cent, Union minister Nityanand Rai told Rajya Sabha on Wednesday. He added that civilian deaths in the region has come down by 89 per cent. Rai said the government's zero tolerance policy against terrorism and peace talks with insurgent groups of the Northeastern states have paid dividends. He said that as a result, a number of rebel groups have come forward for negotiations, surrendered arms and entered into suspension of operations agreements.

No special recruitment in Railways

New Delhi: The Centre on Wednesday ruled out special recruitment drives for filling vacancies of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in Indian Railways. Replying to questions in Lok Sabha, Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said the Railways has been recruiting at regular intervals and there was no need to launch special drives. He said the last special recruitment drive was held in 2008 to clear the backlog of vacancies of SCs, STs and OBCs. "In pursuance of Special Recruitment Drive launched in 2008, as many as 14,868 backlog vacancies (SCs 4,003, STs 4,143, & OBCs 6,722) identified for clearance," he said.

SC upholds 'One Rank One Pension'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday reaffirmed the 'one rank one pension' (OROP) scheme of the Central government for ex-servicemen. The court said it does not find any constitutional infirmity on the OROP principle and the notification dated November 7, 2015.

The judgement by the bench of Justices DY Chandrachud, Surya Kant and Vikram Nath comes on a plea filed by an association "Indian Ex Servicemen Movement" challenging the definition of OROP and the notification issued by the government in 2015.

"We must remember that (judicial) adjudication isn't a right recourse in policy matters. This is not to say that this court will be shy in setting aside the policy when found in violation of fundamental rights. It is not a legal mandate that the person who held the same rank must have the same pension. Applying the above principle, we do not find any constitutional infirmity on the OROP principle and the notification dated November 7, 2015," the bench said.

Upholding the government order dated February 5, 2022, banning the hijab in classrooms, a full bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi, Justices Krishna S Dixit and Justice JM Khazi had pronounced the verdict on a cluster of petitions questioning the order passed by the state government banning the wearing of hijab in classrooms.

After 2 years, India restores all valid e-tourist visas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AFTER two years, India has restored all valid five-year e-tourist visas given to citizens of 156 countries and regular paper visas to nationals of all countries with immediate effect. The restoration of visas comes two years after their suspension following the Covid-19 outbreak, government officials said on Wednesday.

They added that all currently valid old long-duration (10 years) regular tourist visas given to nationals of the US and Japan have been restored. Fresh long-duration tourist visas will also be issued to the US and Japanese nationals.

The government has decided that currently valid e-tourist visas issued for five years, which were suspended in March 2020, shall stand restored to the nationals of 156 countries, the Ministry of Home Affairs announced. Nationals of these countries will also be eligible for issuance of fresh e-tourist visas as per the Visa Manual, 2019.

Fresh regular (paper) tourist visas up to with five years of validity will also be issued to the nationals of eligible countries subject to the restrictions imposed from time to time.

Foreign nationals on tourist and e-tourist visas will be able to enter India only through designated Sea Immigration Check Posts or Airport ICPs by flights, including those under the 'Vande Bharat Mission or 'air bubble' scheme.

Ruckus continues over Nitish-Speaker spat

Opposition relentless over chief minister's 'insult' of Speaker Sinha; Nitish skips House for second consecutive day

We want to know what agreement has been reached between the CM and the Speaker following Monday's incident. After all, the ruling coalition has to run the government

Rabri Devi, Former CM

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

Pandemonium prevailed in the Bihar Assembly for the second consecutive day on Wednesday even as Speaker Vijay Kumar Sinha reached the House to conduct the proceedings.

Sinha had abstained from the proceedings on Tuesday following a heated exchange with Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Monday over investigation into the Lakhisarai prohibition incident. Nitish, too, hadn't attended the proceedings on Tuesday.

As soon as the Assembly started the business for the day at around 11am, the opposition MLAs created a noisy scene inside the House demanding apology from the CM for "lowering the dignity of the Chair" and "insulting" the Speaker.

The Speaker first adjourned the House till 2pm and then from 2pm to 4.30pm due to the ruckus. When the House assembled for post-lunch session, the MLAs of the Left parties trooped into the Well and shouted slogans against the chief minister, who was away in his home district Nalanda.

The Speaker was seen pleading with the MLAs to take their seats and telling them that only two days were left for Holi vacation. Earlier, Sinha informed the members that the chief minister told him on Tuesday he neither intended to lower the dignity of the Chair nor hurt him (Speaker). "Let the 'kala adhyay (dark chapter)' be closed and the business restarted," Sinha was heard as telling the members. On Tuesday, Nitish along with deputy CMs Tarkishore Prasad and Renu Devi, both from the BJP, had met Sinha to end the stalemate.

"We want to know what agreement has been reached between the chief minister and the Speaker following Monday's incident. After all, the ruling coalition has to run the government," former chief minister Rabri Devi said.

Congress MLC Prem Chandra Mishra said what happened in the House on Monday had "never been witnessed in the history of Bihar". "It reflected that the democratic set up is under threat," he added.

He claimed that a sense of political instability prevailed in Bihar. "The two major constituents of the ruling dispensation are fighting with each other, which shows all is not well within the NDA," he said.

Free ration scheme in UP likely to continue till 2024

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AS promised by CM Yogi Adityanath and PM Narendra Modi during their poll rallies, the free ration scheme for 15 crore people of economically weaker sections in Uttar Pradesh may be extended till 2024, the year when the next Lok Sabha elections are scheduled to be held. A final decision in this regard is expected soon from the government.

The free ration scheme had a big impact among both urban and rural voters during the Assembly polls. The scheme for economically weaker sections was started in the state during the second wave of Covid-19.

The scheme was supposed to end by November 2021 but keeping in mind the pandemic in the state and the response of the people, the state government decided to continue it till March end, 2022.

Now, sources have revealed that the government is contemplating to extend the scheme till the 2024 Lok Sabha election and a proposal in this regard has been sent to the Food and Civil Supplies department. A final decision is expected after the government formation post-Holi.

Though many see it as a political move with an eye on 2024, BJP claims it as a step taken for the welfare of the people. The government has been giving free ration to almost 15 crore people every month.

Aghadi awaits SC order to conduct Maha Speaker poll

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER the governor turned down its demand to hold Speaker election, the ruling Maha Vikas Aghadi has decided not to overrule the decision and to wait for the Supreme Court verdict in this regard.

The Speaker post has been lying vacant for the last one year. The governor had returned the government's proposal for holding the Speaker election during the ongoing budget session, stating that the matter regarding the election is in the Supreme Court.

Maharashtra Congress president Nana Patole had alleged the governor was biased against the ruling alliance. "The governor is working like a BJP functionary. It should not happen. Governor holds the highest constitutional post in the state. But his office is serving the BJP's interest. It is very unfortunate," Patole said.

Sources in the government said Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray is ready to overrule the governor's decision and call the Speaker elections. "But Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar, Sena leader Eknath Shinde and some Congress leaders are not in favour of overruling the governor's decision. These leaders feel that if the governor's decision is overruled, he may allege constitutional crisis and demand imposing President's Rule in Maharashtra," said a senior minister.

Sources in Congress said they consulted senior lawyer Abhishek Manu Singhavi who had the opinion that the Aghadi should not be in a hurry. "The matter will be heard by the Supreme Court soon and a decision will be taken after that," said a Congress leader.

All is not well with rural job guarantee scheme in Gujarat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

IN Gujarat, MGNREGA workers do not get wages even after hard work. Also, out of 32 lakh active workers in the state, only 35,000 got 100 days of work.

Allegations have been made by different tribal communities of Gujarat that the implementation of the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act has been inadequate. The Act stipulating employment to poor labourers has become the centre of controversy in Gujarat. Various groups and political parties have alleged the state government has completely failed to provide full 100 days of employment to the poor.

As on March 14, this year, 46.27 lakh job cards have been issued in Gujarat but out of them, only 18.61 lakh are active job cards. The number of active workers in Gujarat is 31.52 lakh. Of these, 5.81% belong to the SCs and 39.04% to the STs.

As per the notification issued by the Centre on April 1, 2021, ₹229 has to be paid as daily wage, but only ₹205 was paid.

Under Section-3 of the Act, the state government is required to provide employment for not less than 100 days, but in Gujarat, employment is not provided for more than 50 days. Despite the epidemic, employment for only 43 days was provided in 2020-21 and for 49 days in 2021-22.

Despite having 18.61 lakh active job cards in the state, less than 35,000 families have been given 100 days of employment in the last five years.

The increase in wages during the last five years is 15.82%. That is an average increase in wages of 3.16%. Even if inflation for the last five years is considered at 5%, it would appear that real wages have declined. According to section-6(2) of the Act, wages under MGNREGA must be equal to the minimum wages of farm labourers. At present, the minimum wage of a farm labourer in Gujarat is ₹324.20, but the MGNREGA wage is ₹229.

Prof Hemant Kumar Shah, president, MGNREGA Workers Union, said, "Under MGNREGA, many workers are not paid on time even though it is legally mandatory to pay them within 15 days. For example, at present 4,000 workers in Poshina taluka, 3,800 workers in Khedbrahma taluka, 3,200 workers in Wadali taluka, and 3,000 workers in Idar taluka are in arrears. In many places wages are paid after two months."

Various tribal organisations have alleged that MGNREGA is demand-based employment law. But when the worker goes to ask for work, the panchayat gives no acknowledgment.

Kafeel Khan to be fielded by SP in MLC poll

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

FOR the impending UP Legislative Council polls to 36 seats, the Samajwadi Party has decided to field Gorakhpur paediatrician Dr Kafeel Khan from the Deoria-Kushinagar constituency. Khan had hit the headlines first time following the death of 67 kids due to lack of oxygen at Gorakhpur's Baba Raghav Das (BRD) Medical College in 2017. Dr Khan was heading the paediatric ward and had been suspended by the Yogi Adityanath government for "dereliction of duty".

Apart from Khan, the SP has fielded Vasudev Yadav from the Allahabad-Kaushambi seat.

Khan met Akhilesh Yadav on Tuesday and presented a book written by him on the Gorakhpur hospital tragedy. According to sources, the SP is contemplating to deny ticket to non-performers. Some candidates who fought the Assembly polls and lost by a narrow margin may also be pitched by the SP in Council elections.

In November last year, the UP government had terminated the services of Dr Khan. In April 2018, he was granted bail by the Allahabad HC which observed that there was no proof of negligence against him.

Shah to visit Jammu, review security

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah will be arriving in Jammu and Kashmir on March 18 for a two-day visit to review the security situation after recent killings of panchayat members and off-duty security personnel. He will also be chief guest at the CRPF Raising Day on March 19.

Sources said Shah, who was earlier scheduled to visit Jammu on a one-day visit on March 19 to attend the CRPF Raising Day, has extended his stay by a day.

The DG of CRPF and top security officials will be present at the CRPF Raising Day parade in Jammu. This is the first time that the CRPF Raising Day is going to be held in J&K. The paramilitary force has been involved in the fight against militancy. CRPF DG Kuldiep Singh has reached Jammu to review arrangements.

Sources said Shah will reviewing the situation in J&K with top security and intelligence officials during a security review meeting. The security officials will brief him about the security situation in J&K, especially after the recent killings of panch and sarpanch and off-duty security men. Three elected panchayat members have been killed by militants this month so far.

Three Lashkar militants killed in encounter

Srinagar: Three local Lashkar-e-Toiba militants were killed in an encounter in Nowgam area on the outskirts of Srinagar on Wednesday. Police said the slain militants were involved in the recent killing of a PDP sarpanch. The deceased militants were identified as Adil Nabi Teli, Shakir Ahmad Tantray and Yasir Ahmad Wagay. The trio had been active since last year. All the three slain militants were involved in the March 9 killing of Sarpanch Sameer Ahmad Bhat on Srinagar outskirts. ENS

Mumbai: The Bombay High Court on Wednesday refused relief from no-coercive steps to BJP MLC Pravin Darekar in a bank fraud case. The HC asked Darekar, leader of opposition in the Legislative Council, to approach the sessions court for anticipatory bail. Mumbai Police has filed an FIR against Darekar based on a complaint by AAP leader Dhananjay Shinde.

Two training aircraft crash in a day; DGCA orders audit of flight schools

New Delhi: Two training aircraft were involved in separate non-fatal accidents in the country on Wednesday, following which aviation regulator DGCA has ordered a safety audit of all flying training organisations (FTOs). The pilot allegedly forgot to open the landing gear in the accident in Jamshedpur in Jharkhand, while the second plane crash-landed on the runway in Sultanpur in UP.

A-I continues to fly over Russia to reach London

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

AMID the Ukraine war, Air India continues to fly from Delhi to London over Russia.

"We continue to operate our flights on the earlier route as the airspace is open and it is a safe. It is not a 'no fly zone' so we consider it safe for flying across to Europe," said sources in the Air India. The four airlines that are directly flying in the London-Delhi sector are Air-India, Vistara, British Airways (BA) and Virgin Atlantic.

The flight duration is the shortest at 9 hours for Air India, as the airline hasn't changed its flight path. Vistara, a joint venture between Tata and SIA, takes 9 hours 20 minutes to reach London as it is not consciously flying over Russia.

British Airways (BA) and Virgin Atlantic are taking longer routes to avoid flying over Russia.

Meanwhile, the fares in the Delhi-London sector have sky rocketed, partially due to more demand and lesser frequencies of flights and secondly due to the hike in the price of aviation turbine fuel (ATF). The cost of ATF has risen by ₹19,000 per kilolitre since January this year. Longer routes also mean spending more on ATF, and this has a bearing on the fare.

One-way fares skyrocket

For one-way flight between Delhi and London, Air India charges ₹81,852, Vistara ₹95,154, BA ₹1.42 lakh and Virgin Atlantic ₹1.35 lakh. These are more than the return fare one would pay earlier on this sector

Husband throws acid on minor girl for writing Class-X exam

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

IN a shocking incident, a homemaker-cum-Class X examinee was attacked with acid by her husband in front of the examination centre in West Bengal's Birbhum district on Tuesday as he was against his wife's decision to pursue education after marriage.

The minor girl, who dreamed of having higher education, is now admitted to a state-run hospital with severe burn injuries on face and upper portion of her body. The accused has been arrested.

The teenage girl got married during the pandemic-induced lockdown but continued her preparation for the exam. Sensing resistance from husband, she, now mother of an infant, went to her parents' house and from there she has been appearing in this year's Madhyamik examination.

In a statement given to police, she said: "From the beginning, my husband was against my decision to appear in the Madhyamik exams. I was preparing for the exams from my father's house. On Tuesday morning, my husband called me and wanted to know where my exam centre was. I reached the centre and was revising my text book with other friends. Suddenly he appeared and asked me not to enter the exam centre. I told him clearly I would appear in the last exam at any cost. Suddenly, he took out a bottle from his pocket and sprinkled something on my face and body. I slumped to the ground and became senseless."

The victim's sister said that there was dispute between the girl and her husband over the issue of pursuing education after marriage.

A member of Council of Secondary Education in Birbhum said a team was immediately sent to meet the girl.

"We tried our best. We wanted the girl to appear in the last exam. We took preparations to start the exam late so that she could appear. But doctors stated her condition to be serious," said one of the team members.

Maiden voyage of foodgrains via Bangladesh

Union Minister of Ports, Shipping & Waterways, Sarbananda Sonowal received the maiden consignment of foodgrains from Patna to Pandu via Bangladesh in Guwahati on Sunday. Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma was among the dignitaries who welcomed the self-propelled vessel MV Lal Bahadur Shastri. It carried 200 MT of foodgrains for Food Corporation of India. Inland Waterways Authority of India is planning to run a fixed schedule sailing to herald a new age of inland water transport for Assam and the Northeast. The chief minister said, "Cargo movement via Indo-Bangladesh Protocol Route marks the beginning of a new age of economic prosperity for the whole of the northeast."

BJP retains Majuli constituency

The BJP in Assam has achieved one more successful outcome with the party retaining the Majuli seat in the recent by-election. In the triangular contest, BJP's Bhuban Gam defeated his next closest rival Chittaranjan Basumatary of the Assam Jatiya Parishad candidate (AJP). Congress had not contested and backed the AJP candidate. The Socialist Unity Centre of India also contested. Bhuban Gam said it was not his victory but that of Majuli's electorate. The by-poll in the island constituency was necessitated by local MLA and former chief minister Sarbananda Sonowal's appointment as a Union minister.

HEAVY SHELLING OF URBAN CENTRES CONTINUES • RUSSIA FAILS TO ADVANCE DEEPER INTO UKRAINIAN TERRITORY, CLAIMS PRESIDENT ZELENSKYY

RUSSIAN FORCES TRY TO CRUSH UKRAINE DEFENCES

KYIV

RUSSIA'S military forces blasted Ukraine's capital region and other major cities on Wednesday as they tried to crush a Ukrainian defence that has frustrated their progress nearly three weeks after invading.

Russia rained shells on areas around Kyiv and within the city, where a 12-story apartment building erupted in flames after being hit by shrapnel. Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said Russian forces had been unable to move deeper into Ukrainian territory but had continued their heavy shelling of cities.

Developments on the diplomatic front and on the ground occurred as the number of people fleeing Ukraine amid Europe's heaviest fighting since World War II passed 3 million. The artillery shrapnel that hit the 12-story apartment building in central Kyiv on Wednesday obliterated the top floor and ignited a fire that sent plumes of smoke over the area, according to a statement and images released by the Kyiv emergencies agency. The neighbouring building was also damaged. The agency reported two victims, without saying if they were injured or killed.

Russian forces have intensified fighting in the Kyiv suburbs, notably around the town of Bucha in the northwest and the highway leading west toward Zhytomyr, regional leader Oleksiy Kuleba said.

Twelve towns around Kyiv were reported to be without water and six without heat. Across the capital region, "kindergartens, museums, churches, residential blocks and engineering infrastructure are suffering from the endless firing," Kuleba said. He said Russian troops were trying to cut off transportation links to the capital and to destroy logistical capabilities while planning a wide-ranging attack.

Ukraine said that Russian rocket attacks on a convoy fleeing the besieged port city of Mariupol had claimed the lives of civilians, including children, after earlier strikes targeted a nearby hub for displaced people. Ukrainian prosecutors said that 10 people were killed by Russian forces while waiting in a line to collect bread in the northern city of Chernigiv. AP

No neutrality, says Ukraine

Kyiv: Ukraine rejects proposals put forward by Russia during peace talks for it to become neutral, like Austria or Sweden. A Ukrainian negotiator stressed the country was at war with Russia and called on Ukraine's allies to underwrite its security. Earlier, Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov had said a 'business-like spirit' is emerging at talks with Ukraine that are now focused on a neutral status for the war-torn country.

European leaders return

A trio of leaders from Poland, the Czech Republic and Slovenia, who braved bombardments to travel to Kyiv to meet Zelensky, arrive back in Poland. During the visit, Poland called for NATO peacekeepers to be deployed in Ukraine.

News sites blocked

Russia's media regulator blocked access to at least a dozen news sites, ramping up a crackdown on the media. Those affected include the award-winning investigative site Bellingcat and regional site Permdaily.ru. The move comes two days after a Russian journalist staged an anti-war protest during a prime-time news broadcast on Russian stateTV.

Ukraine operation is a success: Putin

Moscow: Russian President Vladimir Putin said on Wednesday that his military campaign in Ukraine was a success and that he would not allow the country to become a "springboard" to threaten Russia. "The operation is developing successfully and in strict accordance with plans," Putin said at a televised government meeting, adding Russia had no choice but to send in troops. "We will not allow Ukraine to serve as a springboard for aggressive actions against Russia." He said the West's "economic blitzkrieg" against Moscow has failed, while telling his government to increase social payments amid what he called a "not easy" period. "Yes, it is not easy for us now," Putin said at a government meeting, annou-ncing an "increase of all social payments in the near future". He added that the West had "one aim: the destruction of Russia" but that its "economic blitzkrieg against Russia has failed".

Biden authorises new weapons aid to Ukraine

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT Joe Biden said Wednesday the US is sending more anti-aircraft, anti-armor weapons and drones to Ukraine to assist in its defense against Russia, announcing the help after Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy urged the US and other Western nations to do more in an emotional speech to Congress.

The president's comments came as he formally announced his administration was sending an additional $800 million in military assistance to Ukraine, making a total of $2 billion in such aid sent to Kyiv since Biden took office more than a year ago.

About $1 billion in aid has been sent in just the last week. Biden said the new assistance includes 800 Stinger anti-aircraft systems, 100 grenade launchers, 20 million rounds of small arms ammunition and grenade launchers and mortar rounds and an unspecified number of drones.

Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelenskyy delivers a virtual address to the US Congress on Wednesday | AFP

Biden spoke hours after Zelenskyy delivered a video address to members of US Congress in which he made an impassioned plea for the US and West to provide more help to save his young democracy than world leaders have so far pledged to provide.

Zelenskyy summoned the memory of Pearl Harbour and the September 11, 2001, terror attacks in appealing on Wednesday to the US Congress to do more to help Ukraine's fight against Russia, but he acknowledged the no-fly zone he has sought to "close the sky" to airstrikes on his country may not happen.

Livestreamed into the Capitol complex, Zelenskyy said the US must sanction Russian lawmakers and block imports.

But rather than an enforced no-fly zone that the White House has resisted, he instead sought other military aid to stop the Russian assault. AP

Mariupol descends into despair

MARIUPOL

THE bodies of the children all lie here, dumped into this narrow trench hastily dug into the frozen earth of Mariupol to the constant drumbeat of shelling.

There's 18-month-old Kirill, whose shrapnel wound to the head proved too much for his little toddler's body. There's 16-year-old Iliya, whose legs were blown up in an explosion during a soccer game at a school field. There's the girl no older than 6 who wore the pajamas with cartoon unicorns, among the first of Mariupol's children to die from a Russian shell attack.

They are stacked together with dozens of others in this mass grave on the outskirts of the city. A man covered in a bright blue tarp, weighed down by stones at the crumbling curb. A woman wrapped in a red and gold bedsheet, her legs neatly bound at the ankles with a scrap of white fabric. Workers toss the bodies in as fast as they can, because the less time they spend in the open, the better their own chances of survival. "The only thing (I want) is for this to be finished," raged worker Volodymyr Bykovskyi, pulling crinkling black body bags from a truck. "Damn them all, those people who started this!"

> The only thing (I want) is for this to be finished. Damn them all, those people who started this
>
> Volodymyr Bykovskyi, worker

More bodies will come, from streets where they are everywhere and from the hospital basement where adults and children are laid out awaiting someone to pick them up. The youngest still has an umbilical stump attached.

Each airstrike and shell that relentlessly pounds Mariupol, about one a minute at times, drives home the curse of a geography that has put the city squarely in the path of Russia's domination of Ukraine. This southern seaport of 430,000 has become a symbol of Russian drive to crush democratic Ukraine, but also of a fierce resistance on the ground.

Since Russia's war began,the city is now encircled by Russian soldiers, who are slowly squeezing the life out of it, one blast at a time. AP

BRITISH PM VISITS SAUDI ARABIA AS WAR ROILS OIL PRICES

Riyadh: British Prime Minister Boris Johnson arrived in oil giant Saudi Arabia on Wednesday to lobby for higher production after Russia's invasion of Ukraine sent markets into turmoil. Johnson, one of the few Western leaders to visit Riyadh since the 2018 murder of journalist Jamal Khashoggi, touched down after talks with Abu Dhabi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Zayed in the United Arab Emirates, another oil-rich Gulf state. The UK leader is attempting to rein in oil prices, which soared to nearly $140 a barrel before dropping below $100, and help end the West's dependency on Russian oil following the invasion of Ukraine.

NATO REJECTS UKRAINE 'PEACE MISSION', EYES MORE FORCES ON EASTERN FLANK

Brussels: NATO chief Jens Stoltenberg said the alliance was looking to substantially bolster forces on its eastern flank after Russia's invasion of Ukraine, but would not send troops to the war-torn country. NATO member Poland on Tuesday suggested the alliance deploy an armed "peace mission" in Ukraine to provide humanitarian aid in the face of Moscow's devastating onslaught. "We support peace efforts, we call on Russia, on President (Vladimir) Putin to withdraw its forces, but we have no plans of deploying NATO troops on the ground in Ukraine," Stoltenberg said after a meeting of NATO defence ministers.

Scribe killed in Mexico, eighth so far this year

MEXICO CITY

ANOTHER journalist was shot to death in Mexico on Tuesday, the eighth murdered so far this year in an unprecedented spate of killings that has made Mexico the most dangerous place in the world for the press.

Reporters and photographers have been murdered this year in Mexico at the rate of almost one a week, despite claims from the government that the situation is under control.

Prosecutors in the western state of Michoacan said reporter Armando Linares was shot to death at a home in the town of Zitacuaro. His killing came six weeks after the slaying of a colleague, Roberto Toledo, from the same outlet Monitor Michoacan. It was Linares who announced Toledo's death Jan. 31 in a video posted to social media.

Zitacuaro is one of the closest towns to the monarch butterfly wintering grounds in the mountains west of Mexico City. The area has been plagued by illegal logging and drug gangs, local governance disputes and deforestation linked to expanding avocado production. Logging has damaged the pine and fir forests where the butterflies spend the winter after migrating from the United States and Canada. AP

7.3-MAGNITUDE QUAKE HITS JAPAN, TSUNAMI ADVISORY ISSUED

TOKYO

A POWERFUL 7.3-magnitude quake jolted east Japan on Wednesday night, rattling the capital Tokyo and prompting a tsunami advisory for parts of the northeast coast, the Japan Meteorological Agency said.

The quake was centred off the coast of the Fukushima region at a depth of 60km.

Shortly after it hit at 11:36 pm (1436 GMT) an advisory for tsunami waves of one metre was issued for parts of the coast.

There were no immediate reports of damage or injuries, but at least two million households were left without power, including 700,000 in Tokyo, electricity provider TEPCO said. In the northeastern region, 156,000 households had no power, regional energy company Tohoku Electric Power said.

Prime Minister Fumio Kishida told reporters the government was gathering information on the situation.

"We will commit ourselves to gathering information, do our best to rescue those affected by the (quake) and communicate information appropriately," he said.

TEPCO also said in a tweet that it was checking operations at the Fukushima nuclear plant that went into meltdown 11 years ago after a huge 9.0-magnitude quake hit off the eastern coast on March 11, 2011, triggering a tsunami and nuclear disaster.

The nuclear regulation authority said there were no abnormalities detected at Onagawa nuclear plant in Miyagi prefecture. Japan sits on the Pacific "Ring of Fire", an arc of intense seismic activity that stretches through Southeast Asia and across the Pacific basin. AFP

Cash-strapped Sri Lanka seeks IMF bailout

COLOMBO

SRI LANKA will seek an International Monetary Fund (IMF) bailout, President Gotabaya Rajapaksa said on Wednesday, as it battles soaring inflation and unprecedented food and fuel shortages.

A lack of foreign currency has left Sri Lanka unable to finance essential imports in what authorities say is the South Asian nation's worst economic crisis since independence from Britain in 1948.

"Subsequent to my discussions with the International Monetary Fund, I have decided to work with them," Rajapaksa said in an address to the nation, after meeting with an IMF delegation on Tuesday.

He added that IMF help was needed to secure "a new method" to repay around $6.9 billion in external debt and sovereign bond repayments due this year.

Long queues outside gas stations and rolling daily blackouts have become the norm, while skyrocketing prices have caused serious hardships among the island's 22 million people.

"The root cause of current issues is our foreign exchange crisis," Rajapaksa said, adding he was aware of the "difficulties" faced by people queuing for food and fuel.

"Today, I am determined to make tough decisions to find solutions to the inconveniences that the people are experiencing," he said. AFP

Airfares may surge as ATF prices up by 18%

Aviation turbine fuel, also known as jet fuel, was hiked by ₹17,135.63 per kl on Wednesday

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AFTER witnessing a 10%-30% jump in the last one month, airfares are likely to increase more in the near future as Jet fuel prices on Wednesday were hiked by over 18% - the steepest ever increase and overall sixth increase this year.

Aviation turbine fuel (ATF), also known as jet fuel, was hiked by ₹17,135.63 per kl on Wednesday to ₹110,666.29 per kl in the national capital.

A senior executive of an airline said one-way airfare in busy sectors such as Delhi-Kolkata which was about ₹3,000 till last month (for flights that would take off after a fortnight) has shot up to about ₹4,300. "With this exorbitant hike, we may have very limited options but to pass it to passengers," he said.The on-going Russia-Ukraine conflict is having a very troublesome effect on global oil prices.

The increased sanctions on Russia, a major exporter of oil to India, has made trade with the nation difficult , especially when the European Union has barred seven Russian banks from the SWIFT financial transaction messaging system.

Sumit Singhania, Partner, Deloitte India said, "In short run, the passengers may have to deal with a spike in airfares, for both domestic and long haul international flights. It will be critical from here to see if the geopolitical situation improves dramatically to ease the price pressure. From the government intervention standpoint, reforming ATF taxes will be key as well."

Suprio Banerjee, Vice President & Sector Head, ICRA, said that ATF prices will hurt the airlines most as it represents the single largest cost element for them, accounting for 30-40% of their total operating expenses.

He added that the domestic ATF prices are derived from international fuel prices, denominated in USD, thereby rendering the ATF prices susceptible to exchange rate movements, wherein the rupee has also seen depreciation against dollar lately.

According to Banerjee, airlines at the moment have limited pricing power given the stiff competition and passenger traffic still in recovery mode.

In the past two weeks, the price of crude oil rose as much as $139 a barrel. However, it slowed down in recent days and on Wednesday it was trading around $102.7 per barrel, which is still 30% higher than early January 2022 prices.

Mukesh Ambani retains wealthiest Asian title

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

RELIANCE Industries' Mukesh Ambani has retained the wealthiest Asian title for the second consecutive year, with a 24% rise in wealth to $103 billion, according to the 2022 M3M Hurun Global Rich List, which was released on Wednesday.

With a 153% increase in wealth, Gautam Adani and family of Adani Group became the second richest Asian. Adani added $49 billion to his wealth last year, and occupies the top spot of global wealth gainers, followed by Mukesh Ambani who ranks eighth in the list of global gainers. Adani has added ₹6,000 crore every week over the last year.

Falguni Nayar with $7.6 billion from Nykaa is the wealthiest new entrant in the list and also for the first time, six Indian unicorn founders entered the 2022 list. With a net worth of $23 billion each, Radhakishan Damani and family of Avenue Supermarts and SP Hinduja and family of Hinduja storm into the top 100 in the list for the first time.

Jumping 916 ranks over the last two years, and with a wealth of $3.3 billion Byju Raveendran of BYJU's is the third richest entrepreneur from the education sector in the world.

Mumbai, New Delhi and Bengaluru are among the top 25 global cities that produce the most number of billionaires in the list. While Mumbai is home to 72 billionaires, the number comes to 51 and 28 in New Delhi and Bengaluru, respectively. Also, 215 Indian billionaires hail from 21 cities.

Pankaj Bansal, Director, M3M India said, "About 59% of the country's billionaires are self-made, thus indicating that the new-generation entrepreneurs are financially-wise, asset-rich and investment-vibrant. Also, gender inclusivity and equality has been a noticeable theme with women outranking men across industries."

Anas Rahman Junaid, MD and Chief Researcher said, "The year was also a moment of reckoning for India's start-up ecosystem, which witnessed major start-up IPOs including four companies in Hurun Global Unicorn Index. As many as 10 Tech companies that listed in 2021 cumulatively lost ₹1,72,000 crore since listing, resulting in a momentary pause of the tech IPO."

Coal to remain prime energy source in India for near future, says minister

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

COAL minister Pralhad Joshi on Wednesday said that being an affordable source of energy with substantial reserves, coal is going to stay as a major source of energy in the foreseeable future. The minister, in a written reply to Lok Sabha said the country will require base load capacity of coal-based generation for stability and also for energy security.

"As per the Inventory for Coal and Lignite as on 1 April 2021, the total assessed geological coal resource is 352 billion tonnes. Coal will remain a prime energy source for the near future as it is available in abundance," said the minister.

India has committed to becoming a net-zero nation by 2070. Also, at the COP 26 summit, Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced that India would increase the installed capacity of renewables to 500GW by 2030. However, the target seems unachievable right now, given India's dependency on coal. Coal accounts for 55% of the country's energy needs.

As per Economic Survey, the demand for coal is expected to remain in the range of 1.3-1.5 billion tonnes by 2030. The current per capita commercial primary energy consumption in India is about 350 kgoe/year. Thus, coal is not only the primary source of energy in the country but is also used as an intermediary by many industries such as steel, sponge iron, cement, paper, brick-kilns etc. Hence, there has been an overall increase in the demand of coal over the years.

"While India has committed to clean energy; the pace of transition to cleaner energy sources in India is to be viewed in the light of national circumstances, and principle of common but differentiated responsibilities and respective capabilities, the transfer of climate finance and low cost climate technologies," said Joshi. Talking about the Glasgow Climate Pact, the minister said it does not mandate the phase down of coal power, and is not setting any timelines for the phase down. The pact, the minister said, only calls upon parties to accelerate efforts towards the phase down of unabated coal power in line with national circumstances.

Government plans on easier winding up for start-up companies

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

THE government is planning to ease the winding up rules for start-ups by facilitating exits in 100 days, sources in the Ministry of Corporate Affairs told TNIE.

"At present, corporate exits take anywhere between one-two years, our aim is to make it 6 months for all corporates and 100 days for start-ups," an official from the MCA said on the condition of anonymity.

He said that many young people are taking the entrepreneurial route, and if they fail in their efforts, the laws of exit should be simpler so that they do not punish young entrepreneurs.

The government in this year's budget had announced the creation of the Centre for Processing Accelerated Corporate Exit (C-PACE) to speed up the voluntary winding-up of these companies from the currently required 2 years to less than 6 months. There are two ways of winding up a company in India - voluntary or forced by a court. Winding up a company is necessary as it not only releases assets and investments, but also relieves the promoters from making annual filings with the Registrar of Company.

The process of winding up includes getting approval of the board through a special resolution (in case of voluntary liquidation), filing a winding-up petition with the court, filing an order copy of liquidation by liquidator with RoC and publishing the notice of dissolution in a newspaper.

Under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, there is a provision for voluntary liquidation. As per information released by the insolvency regulator, 34% of the ongoing voluntary liquidation processes have taken more than two years and 52% have taken more than one year.

5G ROLLOUT

5G services may launch during H2 of 2022-2023

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE 5G mobile services are likely to be launched during the second half of the year 2022-23 by Telecom Service Providers, informed the minister of State for Communications Devusinh Chauhan on Wednesday.

The minister, in a written reply to Lok Sabha, also denied any impact of the 5G wave on airlines' communication system. "The frequency band opened for International Mobile Telecommunications (IMT), including 5G Technology, in India has enough guard bands to ensure that there is no aeronautical interference. Therefore, the question of conducting study does not arise," informed the minister.

In January, the 6,000-pilot-strong Federation of Indian Pilots wrote to Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya M. Scindia and requested him to ask the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) and the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) work in tandem to develop a plan that enables the safe and efficient implementation of fifth generation (5G) mobile communications networks in the C-band.

On the infrastructure required for 5G, Devusinh Chauhan said the infrastructure required for rolling out 5G services in the country is to be developed by the TSPs based on requirements and their business plan.

The proposed 5G spectrum auction in the country is likely to be held before the month of August.

At present, Telecom Regulatory Authority of India is expected to come out with its recommendations for the upcoming 5G auction by March-end.

Once the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India submits its report, the department of telecommunications (DoT) will commence the process to auction the airwaves.

'FRL willingly surrendered lease deeds of stores'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

AMAZON has requested the Supreme Court (SC) to pass orders restraining the opening of any new store in place of Future Retail Ltd's (FRL) retail assets at the same premises, pending the final award from a Singapore Tribunal which affirmed the order of an emergency arbitrator (EA) that FRL cannot dispose of its stores without Amazon's consent.

Amazon, at the direction of the SC, filed the interim application on March 15.

Amazon had earlier moved the SC to vacate the stay of the Singapore Emergency Arbitrator's order by the Delhi HC as sought by FRL.

Amazon in its interim application claimed that between February and March 2021, FRL "willingly" surrendered the lease deeds in relation to the premises where it was carrying on its retail business. Thereafter, the same leases were taken over by constituents of the MDA (Mukesh Dhirubhai Ambani) Group as the new lessees.

Amazon on March 14 issued a public notice against FRL threatening it with legal action for transferring its retail assets to MDA in violation of the EA's orders.

FRL TO STOCK EXCHANGES

FRL in a disclosure to the stock exchanges said that its board had taken "strong objection" to Reliance Group's "unilateral" termination of lease agreements and "takeover" of its stores.

However, FRL in a disclosure to the stock exchanges Wednesday said that its board had taken "strong objection" to Reliance Group's "unilateral" termination of lease agreements and "takeover" of its stores.

Responding to stock exchange queries on media reports pertaining to Amazon's public notice, FRL said the onset of the Pandemic since March 2020 and subsequent lockdowns had adversely affected its financial condition. In August of 2020 FRL had entered into a deal with RIL to sell its retail assets for ₹24,713 crore.

FRL said that post the announcement of the scheme of arrangement with Reliance, it was unable to raise additional capital and continued to remain in default on various commitments.

It detailed how Reliance group reached out to FRL's lessors, in the interests of all stakeholders, and signed fresh lease deeds in respect of the stores with them.

It then subleased the same on leave and license basis to FRL. However, the second and third Covid waves further strained FRL's finances and it was unable to pay rent to Reliance Group.

Toyota launches India's 1st hydrogen fuel-cell EV

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

JAPANESE auto-maker Toyota on Wednesday introduced India's first hydrogen fuel cell-powered electric vehicle (FCEV) Mirai as a part of a pilot project By Toyota Kirloskar Motor and International Center for Automotive Technology (ICAT) to study and evaluate the Toyota Mirai on Indian roads and climatic conditions.

Launched by Union Road Transport Minister Nitin Gadkari, Toyota Mirai is powered by a hydrogen fuel cell battery pack, and comes with a certified range of up to 650 km in a single full charge. Gadkari said the FCEV is completely environment-friendly with no tail-pipe emissions other than water. He even said that we collect sewage water and generate green hydrogen by using electrolyzer. "We can compress it with generator running on ethanol, which again is a bio–fuel, and we will get the main hydrogen," added Gadkari.

Toyota said that their goal is to achieve net zero carbon ($CO_2$) emission throughout the entire lifecycle that goes well beyond vehicles. "Given India's energy mix and unique consumer needs, we believe carbon neutral and electrified vehicle technologies are required to achieve practical and sustainable reduction in fossil fuel consumption and $CO_2$ emissions," said the automaker.

Crypto exchanges launch SIP despite uncertainty

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

DESPITE uncertainty around cryptocurrency in India, as at present there are no regulations or any ban on its use, many crypto exchanges have already launched Systematic Investment Plans (SIPs) to buy crypto assets.

Just like SIPs in mutual funds, investors can invest periodically to buy crypto assets. The latest crypto investing platform to launch the SIP feature is Y Combinator-backed Mudrex.

Using SIPs, investors can spread out their capital investment instead of making a lump sum purchase, thereby reducing their risk on their crypto investment.

Edul Patel, CEO and Co-founder, Mudrex says, "We have for a long time believed in the power of long-term investing and it comes as no surprise that SIPs were a much-requested feature on Mudrex. With the release of the feature, we hope that users will be able to maximise long-term wealth creation in a new and rapidly growing asset class like crypto." Another crypto platform Giottus introduced a SIP feature last month with investment options starting from ₹100. CoinSwitch too introduced a SIP-like recurring buy plan feature for its investors.

Ashish Singhal, Founder and CEO of CoinSwitch said that as more Indians continue to diversify their investment portfolio with crypto, the CoinSwitch recurring buy plan will allow long-term investors to invest systematically and avoid the impulse to time the market and make emotional trading decisions.

Also, investors should remember that the government has proposed a 30% tax on crypto income. It means if they are withdrawing the money, they will be taxed flat 30% irrespective of the total amount. Compared to traditional markets, cryptocurrency markets are known for their volatility. Buyers should be well aware of this volatility before investing in them.

Sathvik Vishwanath, CEO and Co-founder of Unocoin says, "It is also important to choose a trustworthy platform. If and when the portfolio grows beyond a point, it is also a good idea to withdraw the crypto to private wallets then keeping it in the platform forever," he added.

BSNL suffers ₹50,631 cr loss in 5 yrs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

STATE-owned telecom service provider Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) suffered a loss of ₹50,631 crore in the past five years, informed the minister of state for communications Devusinh Chauhan on Wednesday.

However, the telco turned EBITDA positive (operating profit) in 2020-21 after the government approved a revival plan for BSNL. "As a result of these measures, BSNL has turned EBITDA positive (operating profit) in 2020-21," informed the minister in a written reply to Lok Sabha.

To help BSNL, the government approved a revival plan in 2019. The plan includes inter-alia measures to reduce the Staff cost through a Voluntary Retirement Scheme (VRS) for employees of age 50 years and above, administrative allotment of spectrum for providing 4G services with funding through budgetary allocation, monetisation of non-core and core assets to generate resources to retire debt, meet CAPEX and other requirement and debt restructuring by raising of Sovereign Guarantee Bonds.

This year, the government allocated ₹84,586 crore to the telecommunication department in the budget.

Djokovic, Medvedev likely to compete at French Open

Novak Djokovic will be allowed to play at the French Open even if he is not vaccinated against Covid-19 as long as the situation in France remains stable, organizers said Wednesday. Russian stars, including Daniil Medvedev, will also be admitted to play but as neutral athletes because of the war started by their country in neighboring Ukraine.

CHENNAI GETS READY FOR CHESS OLYMPIAD MILESTONE

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

CHESS buffs in the city are in for a rare treat as Chennai is set to host the 44th FIDE Chess Olympiad 2022. The government of Tamil Nadu along with the All India Chess Federation president Dr Sanjay Kapoor on Wednesday announced this on Wednesday. The dates are not finalised but should be held during July and August (July 26 to August 8).

After FIDE declared that it was pulling the Chess Olympiad 2022 out of Russia due to the ongoing war situation the chess world scrambled to find an able host. The AICF team acted swiftly and with the support of the Tamil Nadu government managed to bag the deal. In fact, chief minister MK Stalin took keen interest in hosting event.

"I am happy to announce an event which will be a milestone in the history of Tamil Nadu. This is a proud moment for all Tamils and the state is deeply connected to this amazing game. Starting from world renowned grandmaster Viswanathan Anand to the young prodigy R Praggnanandhaa, Tamil Nadu has been continuously producing world class chess players," said Stalin in a video message at the function. "The tournament which will see participants from over 150 countries across the globe will be one of the biggest sporting events to be hosted in India. I thank FIDE and AICF. I resolve to conduct this chess Olympiad in a great manner and welcome all the chess wizards from across the globe," said the CM, adding that the event would take TN's hospitality and culture to the global arena.

The TN government was represented by chief secretary V Irai Anbu and member secretary of SDAT Dr R Ananda Kumar during the official announcement on Wednesday.

The Olympiad will be a great chance for local star R Praggnanandhaa

"It will be the first time that an Olympiad will be held in India," said Bharat Singh Chauhan, the secretary of the chess federation. "It is a big moment for all of us. Everything went on smoothly. We met the Tamil Nadu chief minister MK Stalin and within five minutes he agreed."

The last big event was in 2013 World Championships match between Magnus Carlsen and Anand. The last over-the-board Olympiad, the 43rd edition was held in 2018 in Batumi, Georgia.

The 2020 Olympiad was originally awarded to Minsk, but the city withdrew following the political unrest in Belarus. Online Olympiads were held in 2020 and 2021 during the Covid pandemic. "It will be the first big over-the-board tournament in the world after covid. We have the experience of organising the Delhi Chess Open where large number of players participated. But Olympiad is a big game. We are confident of organising the tournament successfully," said Bharat Singh.

Former World No 1 Anand is expected to lead the team, while Koneru Humpy will be looking to inspire the women's side. The Olympiad will be held on the outskirts of the city in a resort near Mahabalipuram. The event is held over 11 rounds and it usually attracts top players from over the world.

The team will be announced in early May. "The event will be held mostly from July 26 to August 8. The exact dates will be announced soon. Our players have already been preparing and I am sure they will enjoy the home advantage. We have started booking rooms for about 2000 players and officials from some 200 countries will be here," informed Bharat Singh.

FORGETFUL DAY AT OFFICE FOR INDIA

Against a team that was low on confidence, Mithali and rest of the batters crumble on Wednesday to suffer a four-wicket defeat

GOMESH S @ Chennai

THE last time India got out to a total less than 150 while batting first was in October 2019 at Surat against South Africa on a spin-friendly wicket. They went on to win that game. Although they recently imploded in the fourth ODI versus New Zealand, that was while chasing. Even otherwise, it is not often they get out for such a low score. They are better than that. To put things into context, since January 2010, India have been dismissed for less than 150 just 11 times in 119 innings — five of which they actually ended up winning.

England's Anya Shrubsole was back amongst wickets as the pacer removed Indian top-order batter Yastika Bhatia early in the powerplay on Wednesday | AFP

Which is why, when India crumbled on a fresh wicket, with batters walking in and out, one after another, it felt more like a collective brain fade. Sure, England were better with their lines and lengths early on, bowling much fuller and straighter than they did against South Africa.

But, India, wanting to show intent, did not give themselves enough time to get their eyes in. Anya Shrubsole removing one left-handed opener, Yastika Bhatia, early brought back memories of 2017. If that wasn't a morale boost enough for a side that was looking for a mandatory win, Sophia dunkley took a sharp catch to dismiss Mithali Raj and Kate Cross effected a direct hit, that caught Deepti Sharma short of the crease, to take their confidence to the top. In no time, India were down to 28 for three.

None of it came as a surprise for England. As Shrubsole mentioned after the match, they had all of it planned from the video tapes they had watched. And that India played into their hands, helped their cause. Case in point was Deepti's dismissal. Batting on zero from nine balls, she nudged one towards mid-off and took off for a single when there was no run.

ICC WOMEN'S CRICKET WORLD CUP NEW ZEALAND 2022

Brief scores: India 134 all out in 36.2 ovs (Mandhana 35; Dean 4/23) lost to England 136/6 in 31.2 ovs (Knight 53 n.o; Meghna 3/26).

Even then, not all was lost as India still had Mandhana and Harmanpreet Kaur in the middle. They spent time in the middle, slowly building a partnership, adding 33 runs from 49 balls. But England brought on Charlie Dean, and Kaur tried to pounce on the off-spinning all-rounder, only to edge a straight delivery behind. Sneh Rana did exactly the same just two deliveries later.

With dot-ball pressure piling up, Mandhana went for an expansive sweep and was trapped on the pads by Sophie Ecclestone. Pooja Vastrakar tried to sweep a full delivery from Dean fine of the square — immediately after surviving a LBW call trying to do exactly the same thing — only to be given out the second time.

From 86 for seven, they scrapped their way to 134. It seemed like a shadow of the batting line-up that smashed over 300 in the previous game. One look at the dismissals will tell how they failed to strategise and execute simple things on the field. That said, is this line-up that's bad enough to get out for such a score often? As the numbers show, they aren't.

With their next match against Australia, India will have to regroup and come up with better plans soon to keep their chances for knockouts bright.

IPL 09 DAYS TO GO

FRESH START FOR RAJASTHAN

Rajasthan Royals would be looking to have a good start in the upcoming edition of the Indian Premier League with some interesting acquisitions and a fresh-looking squad. Having failed to reach the top four since 2018, the Sanju Samson-led side have made ample changes looking for a reboot.

OVERVIEW

R Ashwin teaming up with Jos Buttler after their run-out drama back in 2019 captured the imagination of the fans as far as Royals' auction spree was concerned. But it was all about giving the side a fresh look with some interesting new picks. While Ashwin brings a wealth of experience, the likes of Trent Boult and Yuzvendra Chahal are proven performers in the league alongside Nathan Coulter-Nile. As Samson is still trying to find his feet as captain, the presence of the senior stars will help him as they look to turn their fortunes around. Prasidh Krishna was their biggest purchase at `10 crore while they also got the likes of Devdutt Padikkal and Shimron Hetmyer to cover all bases and have a good blend of experience and youth. Lasith Malinga as bowling coach is also a welcome boost for the outfit.

NEEDING ATTENTION

While the Royals have one of the best batting units in the league thanks to the likes of Buttler, Samson, Padikkal and Hetmyer, the team looks to be short of match-winning all-rounders. The only notable name in the squad who fits that bill is Jimmy Neesham. However, the Kiwi cricketer hasn't proven himself on a consistent basis and the Royals will be hoping that he comes good this season. While the likes of R Ashwin and Riyan Parag can fill that role, they look short in one department and that could be a cause of concern.

WHAT TO EXPECT?

Royals have a star-studded line-up and are looking to head in a new direction under the leadership of Samson. The key for the team will be to produce consistent performances. While the team has some proven match-winners, it is all about being consistent through the season. Once again, the focus will be on whether Samson can take the former champions back into the top four.

SKME ITF OPEN

Adil secures impressive win over Krainer

ENS/AGENCIES @Bengaluru

Adil Kalyanpur scored a brilliant comeback victory to send the third seed Lukas Krainer of Austria home with a 4-6, 6-2, 6-3 victory to help him reach the pre-quarterfinals of the SKME ITF Open at the KSLTA Stadium here on Wednesday. The day also saw five out of a total of eight qualifiers advancing to the second round.

Meanwhile, Arjun Kadhe, seeded fifth, began his quest for a back-to-back title in the right earnest with a facile 6-4, 6-2 victory over qualifier Rishi Reddy while Kadhe's opponent in the final last week and second seed Sidharth Rawat breezed past his Kazak rival Dostanbek Tashbulatov 6-2, 6-0 to enter the last 16 stage. Seventh seed Niki Kaliyanda Poonacha overcame a fighting former Olympian and Asian Games Medallist Vishnu Vardhan 3-6, 6-2, 7-6 (5).

All England Open: Saina & Sindhu post wins to enter second round

ANMOL GURUNG @Chennai

SAINA Nehwal was in a desperate situation at one stage in her second game against Beatriz Corralles in the All England Open Badminton Championships in Birmingham on Wednesday.

Having pocketed the first game, Saina was trailing 8-17 at one stage. The Indian did the impossible by garnering nine consecutive points to be on level terms before using the momentum in her favour to go to win the game and match ( 21-17, 21-19). Later, World No 7 PV Sindhu beat China's Wang Zhi Yi 21-18, 21-13 to join Saina in the second round.

Highly-touted Indian men's doubles pair of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty got off to a happy start. The Indian pair, seeded fifth, got the better of Alexander Dunn and Adam Hall in the opening round, wrapping the contest 21-17, 21-19 in 38 minutes.

The Indians will be up against Germany's Mark Lamsfuss and Marvin Seidel in the second round. The Germans beat Indian pair of Krishna Prasad Garaga and Vishnuvardhan Goud Pranjala in their opening-round contest.

Satwiksairaj Rankireddy (L) and Chirag Shetty advanced to second round

Treesa Jolly and Gayatri Gopichand also tasted success on the day. After losing the first game, the Indian duo fought back to register a 17-21, 22-20, 21-14 win against Thailand pair of Benyapa Aimsaard and Nuntakarn Aimsaard in the women's doubles.

Tressa and Gayatri were not the only pair from India who showed fighting spirit on the day. Men's doubles pair of MR Arjun and Dhruv Kapila also gave a good account of themselves against No 2 seeds Mohammad Ahsan and Hendra Setiawan of Indonesia in their opening round match. After winning the first game, the Indonesians upped their game to beat the Indian pair 15-21, 21-12, 21-18. Ashwini Ponnappa and N Sikki Reddy lost 21-9, 21-13 against Japanese duo of Rin Iwanaga and Kie Nakanishi.

In the singles section, HS Prannoy went down 21-15, 24-22 against Kunlavut Vitidsarn of Thailand. Sameer Verma was helpless against Mark Caljouw of Netherlands, losing 21-18, 21-11.B Sai Praneeth also bowed out after losing 22-20, 21-11 against top seed Viktor Axelsen of Denmark.

Indian pair Meghana Jakkampudi and S Ram Poorvisha were no match for Supissara Paewsampran and Puttita Supajirakul of Thailand, going down 21-5, 21-3 in just 22 minutes.

Azam, Rizwan tons help Pakistan hold on to a draw

AFP @ Karachi

PAKISTAN skipper Babar Azam smashed 196 and Mohammad Rizwan 104 not out to deny Australia victory Wednesday and force a dramatic draw in the second Test in Karachi.

The Pakistan pair put the home team well on course for a draw, but spinner Nathan Lyon turned the match on its head by dismissing Azam and Faheem Ashraf with successive deliveries.

Lyon came on to bowl the third of the 15 mandatory remaining overs of the match, and with his fourth delivery had Azam glove a catch to Marnus Labuschagne at forward short-leg.

Next ball Lyon had Ashraf caught at slip to raise hopes of an Australian win.

The late-hour drama on the final day also saw Usman Khawaja drop Rizwan on 91 off luckless spinner Mitchell Swepson with 18 balls left in the match.

The pugnacious Rizwan, in company of tailender Nauman Ali (nought), batted out 46 balls during their 29-run stand for the eighth wicket to keep the three-match series tied at 0-0.

The first Test also ended in a draw in Rawalpindi, while the third and final Test will start in Lahore from Monday.

Brief scores: Australia 556/9d & 97/2d vs Pakistan 148 & 443/7 (Babar 196, Rizwan 104 n.o, Shafique 96; Lyon 4/112).

FAMILIAR DRAWBACKS COST MAN UNITED

Man United, who drew 1-1 against Atletico in first leg, started brightly at Old Trafford but were let down by defensive lapses and a palpable lack of a cutting edge. Cristiano Ronaldo did not have a shot on goal while substitutes Edinson Cavani, Paul Pogba and Marcus Rashford failed to make an impact. Brazilian full-back Renan Lodi headed in unmarked at the back post four minutes before half-time to end United's last chance of silverware this season as their drought without a trophy since 2017 goes on. United now face an uphill task just to get back into the Champions League next season as an under-performing squad filled with star names sit fifth in the Premier League.

UNITED BOW OUT, BENFICA MARCH ON

Atletico Madrid drove the final nail in the coffin of a miserable season for Man United as the Spanish champions entered the Champions League quarterfinals with a 1-0 win at Old Trafford to progress 2-1 on aggregate. Benfica shock Ajax. Quick highlights...

2 Under Alex Ferguson, Man United reached three Champions League finals in four years from 2008 to 2011. Since then they have won a meagre two knockout ties in the competition.

We are really disappointed with the result. It's difficult to put into words how we feel now at the moment. We did not do enough in both games to win it. It's a very disappointing day for us.

David de Gea, Manchester United goalkeeper

BENFICA SILENCE HOME CROWD

Darwin Nunez headed home in the 77th minute as Benfica stunned Ajax, winning the second leg 1-0 in Amsterdam to advance 3-2 on aggregate. The Portuguese side had not managed a single attempt on target until Uruguayan striker Nunez beat goalkeeper Andre Onana to Alex Grimaldo's free-kick and headed in to silence the Johan Cruyff Arena. Ajax, who had dominated the first half, could not recover from that blow.

UEFA CHAMPIONS LEAGUE

RESULTS

In Amsterdam: Ajax 0-1 Benfica

Benfica win 3-2 on aggregate

In Manchester: Man United 0-1 Atletico Madrid

Atletico Madrid win 2-1 on aggregate

2016 Having sent Barcelona packing in the group stage, Benfica will now appear in the last eight for the first time since 2016.

Hyderabad to face Blasters in ISL final

AGENCIES @ Bambolim

HYDERABAD FC were second best on the night, losing 0-1 to ATK Mohun Bagan in the second leg of the Indian Super League semifinal, but made history at the Athletic Stadium in Bambolim by qualifying for their first final with a 3-2 victory on aggregate over two legs, in an exhilarating contest on Wednesday.

Roy Krishna scored in the 79th minute to give ATKMB a glimmer of hope and make for an end-to-end last ten minutes but in the end, it was not enough for the finalists of last season as the men in yellow booked a final date with Kerala Blasters at the PJN Stadium in Fatorda on Sunday. In the first leg, Bartholomew Ogbeche, Yasir Mohammad and Javier Siverio netted for Hyderabad.

ATHLETICS

Post IGP-1 experience, quarter-miler Amoj aiming to improve timings

MARTIN JOSEPH @Kochi

IMMEDIATELY after Amoj Jacob got over the finish line ahead of Noah Nirmal Tom in the 400m race of the Indian Grand Prix-1 held at Thiruvananthapuram on Sunday, the quarter-miler collapsed to the ground in visible discomfort.

Immediately, the ice packs were out as he was seen nursing his ankle and assessing his physical condition after the run he just completed.

After the heroics at the Tokyo Olympics, where the Indian men's relay team re-wrote the Asian record, the likes of Amoj and Noah were returning to the track in what was their season opener.

As expected, it was a contest between Amoj and Noah in the 400m run with the Delhi athlete breaking away into the lead close to the halfway mark and never relinquishing it from there.

Amoj had clocked the fastest time of 44.68s in that run at the Olympics which was crucial in India setting a time of 3:00.56s, even though it wasn't enough to qualify for the final.

Amoj said that he has been carrying a few niggles and the 23-year-old wanted to test his fitness levels at the IGP-1. "I just wanted to see where I am fitness-wise. I am recovering from a few niggles and injuries and I wanted to run to assess myself. Since I was running after a while, there was some discomfort, but it shouldn't be big a cause of concern," said Amoj.

He finished with a time of 45.98s at the IGP-1 and admitted that the target this season was to run faster. "I want to improve my personal timings and that is always the big target because I know I can run faster. I want to use these meets to try and get back into shape, and by the time we head out for international meets, hopefully, I can put in some strong performances. The season has now started and it is all about maintaining the momentum," he said.

Amoj Jacob (L) won the 400m run by beating Noah Nirmal Tom (R) | BP DEEPU

While Amoj and Noah ran in the 400m run, their Indian relay team teammate Muhammed Anas Yahiya did not compete in the IGP-1. Arokia Rajiv, meanwhile, chose to run in the 200m race where he finished third.

"Everyone is just slowly returning to action and taking their time with their returns. We'll see everyone slowly pick up pace. I only focussed on trying to improve my timings. We have a big year with the Asian Games, Commonwealth Games and the World Championships lined up. It's good to get the season underway," Amoj added.

EFI suspends 4 riders for impersonation

NEW DELHI: The Equestrian Federation of India (EFI) has unanimously decided to suspend six individuals, including four riders, for two years after an inquiry committee found them guilty of an impersonation scam to represent the Nepal team at the Tent Pegging World Cup Qualifiers held in March last year. Seven other individuals were also issued warnings.

DAY'S DIARY

Burial ground found

On this day in 2016, archaeologists announced the discovery of a 2,500-year-old iron age warrior king burial ground in Northern England

ACCIDENTAL DISCOVERY

A housing developer stumbled on the fossil site in the small town of Pocklington in east Yorkshire, a find that is said to be of extreme "national and international significance"

WARRIOR REMAINS

The site had "remarkably" well-preserved remains of a youthful warrior dated to 800BC. He had been ritually speared to "release his spirit"

HISTORY PRESERVED

The site contained over 75 graves holding 160 skeletons of people from the Arras culture, a group who lived in the region in the middle iron age

GHOSTS OF THE PAST

Vivek Agnihotri's The Kashmir Files — based on the ordeal of the Kashmiri Pandits during the start of the insurgency in the Valley — has been a hot topic of debate. Kashmiri Pandits in the city share their trials, tribulations, and thoughts on the film

MONIKA MONALISA

'Director has taken cinematic liberties'

THE opening scene of the movie shows a child playing cricket and praising Sachin Tendulkar, for which he gets beaten by his friend. The same thing happened to me when I mentioned Sanjay Manjrekar scoring a double century against Pakistan. I was six years old and was tied onto a pole and beaten by Muslim children.

For the first time today, I feel we have been heard. People are reaching out to us to hear our stories. Of course, the director has taken cinematic liberty. There are so many stories and all of them can't be put in a straightforward way.

My father hasn't gone to Kashmir for 32 years but after watching the movie, he told my younger brother that he wanted to visit.

Vithal Chowdhary, activist

'My father was weeping throughout the movie'

I WAS born in 1996 and I've grown up listening to stories of Kashmir from my parents and grandparents. Through the movie, I saw some of the ordeals they had gone through. Stories of men being on the hit list and women being asked to leave their family and children behind, forcing women to marry Muslim men... It might sound cinematic but it's the reality of any Kashmiri Pandit. There was a scene where a child was hidden in huge rice containers, it's exactly how my brother's life was saved. My father was weeping throughout the movie, that's the sort of impact it had on him.

Sanjana Raina, media professional

'Movie could divide people'

I WAS born in the midst of turmoil in Jan '90. My parents and my grandparents relate to the movie more than I do. But honestly, I found it to be a real take on the situation. I have heard so many people feeling that the movie could cause bitterness. But the truth is always hard to digest. With the current political situation, this movie could divide people, but it is really important to bring out the truth because it is shocking to know that there are many people in the country who have no idea about these incidents.

Akshay Pandita, business analyst

A scene from the film

'Hard-hitting for us'

I MOVED from Srinagar to Bengaluru in 1990, when I was two years old. My father worked in the HMT factory in Srinagar and his name had come on the hit list. These lists were in Urdu and appeared in a local newspaper, which my mother, who was seven months pregnant then, happened to read. Overnight, we left with bag and baggage. Later, we found out that our neighbour in Srinagar, who was one of the area commanders of a terrorist organisation, had been killed by the Army for perpetrating crimes.

After we came here and managed to organise food, clothing, and shelter, we waited for years for the Indian government or the Supreme Court to do something, but since we were not the vote bank, our opinions didn't matter much. I have watched the movie and relate to it to a great extent. We have always seen Kashmir being romanticised in movies.

There was a movie called Shikara by Vidhu Vinod Chopra but it didn't depict the incident correctly. The director of The Kashmir Files may appear to be a hardliner and has been accused of showing things in a gory way, but if 4.5 lakh Kashmiris left their home overnight, it can't be trivialised. It is hard-hitting for us.

After two years of staying put, celebs in Bengaluru are ready for some splash of hues this Friday on Holi

Unleashing true colours

EXPRESS FEATURES

WHEN Holi was celebrated in 2020, little did anyone know that the next one that would be celebrated would be only two years later. Which is why it's double the excitement this year as Bengalureans stack up a range of hues for the festival of colours.

Take, for instance, 777 Charlie actor Sangeetha Sringeri, whose friends from across the country are gathering in Bengaluru to celebrate the festival. "We want to recreate younger days when we used to play with colours in a carefree manner. I want to remember all those times when my dad was in the Army and we played as a family," she recalls, adding, "My nose and ears stayed pink for days, sometimes the colour got onto my teeth too."

Adhvithi Shetty, popular for her role in Suli, loves being amidst colours but is upset that she cannot celebrate the festival this year. "I'm shooting for a Telugu film from Sunday, so I can't have Holi colours on me," she exclaims. "I know there are other ways to celebrate it but what's Holi without the struggle of having to remove your colours for days, or having fun with your friends?," she says, adding, "But I'll always recall playing with friends in college and having the best of times."

For actor and director Suraj Gowda, Holi brings back fond childhood memories with school friends and cousins. "We didn't just play with colours, we had eggs, pichkari, water guns and so on," he says, adding that it takes him down memory lane when he sees children playing now. The actor will be working on Friday so he isn't sure if he'll have the time to get his hands 'dirty'. "Maybe we'll play once we pack up, otherwise I'll just invade all my friends places with water guns," he laughs.

Tagaru actor Manvita Kamath goes back to her Mumbai days in 2019 where Holi is celebrated on a grand scale. "That's the last time I played. This year, unfortunately (and fortunately), I have to shoot the next day so I can't go all out," she says.

FIT BIT

VIPARITA SHALABHASANA

(INVERTED LOCUST POSE)

Viparita shalabhasana is the name given to two strong backbends, but more typically refers to an advanced asana that is part of the third series of Ashtanga yoga. From a supine position with the arms reaching forward, the arms, legs and chest lift off the ground so that the body looks like Superman in flight. In addition to its physical benefits, Viparita Shalabhasana is believed to balance the Anahata (heart), Visuddha (throat) and Manipura (solar plexus) Chakras. Anahata is associated with love and compassion, Visuddha with higher truth and authentic expression, and Manipura with self-esteem and inner strength. Practise in the presence of a yoga expert.

STEPS
- Lie on your stomach, toes flat on the floor; chin resting on the ground.
- Keep your legs together with your feet lightly touching each other.
- Stretch your arms out to the front as far as you can.
- Take a deep breath in and lift your chest, arms, legs and thighs off the floor.
- Rather than making an effort to raise your hands and legs more, make a gentle effort to stretch your arms and legs away from your torso.
- Now, feel the pull that is occurring at both ends. Ensure that your elbows and knees are not bent.
- Breathe with awareness, keeping your attention on the stretch.
- As you exhale, gently lower your chest, arms and legs.

By N Elumalai, PhD scholar (Yoga Science), at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

BENEFITS
- Stretches and strengthens the muscles of the chest, shoulders, arms, legs, abdomen and the lower back.
- Tones the abdomen and lower back.
- Massages the spine and keeps the back supple.
- It also helps to improve blood circulation.
- Also works on your mind – when you take off, you can't help but stay in the present moment. Even if you want to, you can't think about any problem!
- This pose can be a good workout for the abs and stomach.
- In the Padma Sadhana sequence, Superman Pose forms the fifth pose, after Bhujangasana (Cobra Pose).

LIMITATIONS
- This asana should not be practiced if you have had an abdominal surgery recently and by pregnant women.

REPRODUCTIVE ISSUES AND KIDNEY DISEASE

DR PARTHA SHETTY

SEXUAL dysfunction and infertility are common in men and women suffering from chronic kidney disease. These may result in anxiety, loss of self-esteem, marital discord, and depression, contributing to impaired life quality.

Sexual function in men and women is controlled by various neurologic, psychological and hormonal mechanisms, which are all affected in chronic kidney disease. Medications prescribed for various comorbidities may also contribute.

Men with kidney ailments have hormonal alterations in which the prolactin levels are elevated, and various gonadal hormones from the hypothalamus and the pituitary gland are produced at lower levels. About two-thirds of men on dialysis have low testosterone levels and have abnormal sperm production and motility. Poor erectile function and lack of sexual desire may cause further issues. In women, lack of pulsatile Luteinizing Hormone (LH) release often contributes to anovulation. Loss of lubrication in women contributes to sexual dysfunction. Diabetes itself can cause loss of sexual function, and diabetes is the leading cause of chronic kidney disease worldwide.

For those with chronic kidney disease and on hemodialysis, various medications for improving erectile function and sustaining erection can be tried. Women with poor lubrication can use artificial lubricants. Sometimes, hormonal medications may be employed for both women and men in conjunction with the gynaecologist and the urologists to improve sexual function. Regular dialysis up to three times per week will decrease the toxin load, and this is essential for maintaining hormonal balances and general sexual well being. Psychiatric counselling to relieve stress and counselling may help tremendously to achieve better sexual function.

Favourable effects have been reported in male fertility after renal transplantation. However, the increase in fertility also depends upon the care after transplantation and close follow up and monitoring of the various parameters by the treating nephrologist. The reduction of the toxin load and the normalisation of the kidney function after renal transplant itself will play a tremendous role in restoring sexual function. An increase in the sexual drive and overall better sexual performance is well known to be restored after transplantation. Further, the age of developing End-stage renal disease also plays a crucial role in determining the recovery of fertility post-transplantation.

The recovery of fertility also depends upon the preservation of vas deferens and testicular blood supply during the surgery, which is done on priority for the patient. Patients who had low levels of sperm before the transplant have an improvement in sperm motility and count in up to 12 months after the procedure.

Many men have fathered children successfully after transplantation. Many women, who lost reproductive function due to chronic kidney disease and are on dialysis will recover reproductive function, have normal menstrual cycles, and bear children after renal transplantation. However, sexual dysfunction due to severe and irreversible damage due to factors like advanced age, long-standing diabetes, various coexisting medical factors and prolonged dialysis may not be completely reversible. A renal transplant hence is an effective option for patients with chronic kidney disease regarding sexual function and childbearing. It has been established that after transplantation, the medications given to men will have minimal effect on procreation, the effects of medicines are more pronounced in women, but they do not usually come in the way of normal childbearing.

NUGGETS

Eight hours of sleep may not be necessary, scientists say

You must have heard one should sleep for eight hours, but researchers say that it depends on a person's genetics. When it comes to sleep, quality matters over quantity. People with Familial Natural Short Sleep (FNSS) prefer to sleep just four to six hours a night, and yet have the ability to function fully on. According to researchers at University of California, San Francisco, these "elite sleepers" show psychological resilience and resistance to neurodegenerative conditions that may point the way to fending off neurological disease. It means that the brain accomplishes its sleep tasks in a shorter time. The researchers have shown that it runs in families and, thus far, have identified five genes across the genome that play a role in enabling this efficient sleep. —IANS

Study reveals cooler conditions may prolong lifespan

Chinese and British scientists found that animals living in temperate conditions may have longer lifespans, which may be a clue to people's efforts for longevity. Researchers from the Shenzhen Institute of Advanced Technology under the Chinese Academy of Sciences, along with collaborators from Wenzhou University, Liaocheng University and the University of Aberdeen, conducted an experiment revealing how body temperature affects the lifespan of rodents. In this study, the researchers exposed hamsters to high temperatures, about 32.5 degrees Celsius, and found that metabolism fell as body temperature went up. —IANS

Ashwini and Puneeth Rajkumar

'I DON'T THINK I WILL BE ABLE TO WATCH JAMES'

A SHARADHAA

ASHWINI Puneeth has still not come to terms with the passing away of her husband, and popular actor Puneeth Rajkumar. However, Ashwini wants to continue the vision that Puneeth and she had for Kannada cinema through PRK Productions.

In her first-ever interview to the media post-Puneeth's demise, Ashwini spoke to CE about Appu, PRK Productions, and the upcoming film, James. "From day one, we were always on the lookout for new and interesting content, fresh talents, and wanted to experiment with each project. Not every film that was brought out from our banner was successful, but we have managed to give our best. Since I have been involved with the production house right from its inception, I would want to take forward the vision we had planned together for PRK Productions," says Ashwini.

James, which is set for a March 17 release coinciding with Puneeth's birth anniversary, has been an emotional ride for Ashwini. Fans of Appu have been celebrating James like never before. "While it has been difficult to accept his loss, it has been very overwhelming to see the love Puneeth had gained through his works," says Ashwini, adding, "It is not just here, but people abroad too have connected with Puneeth, and they are celebrating him in their own way, especially during these difficult times."

Ashwini recalls that Puneeth would discuss his projects with her, and he had shared a little detail about James too. "He had mentioned about the action scenes in James, the making of the film and the technical aspects," mentions Ashwini.

Being part of the Rajkumar family, Ashwini is aware that they will always be under the spotlight. There is never a private moment in their lives, and every single aspect is under the public eye. Are there times she wishes the private remained private? "Definitely, but It can't be the case. I have been part of Puneeth's journey for 21 years, and I know how it is. However, there is a section of people, who have respected privacy, especially the media, who know that the family is yet to come to terms with this loss. People understand. I'm just trying my best, and let me see how I will go about it."

With the film hitting the screens on Thursday, will Ashwini be watching James in theatres? "I don't think I will be able to watch the film. I just cannot," she signs off.

A still from James

'WATCH JAMES FOR APPU'

...says director Chethan Kumar, who has managed to fulfill his wish of directing the Power Star

CE FEATURES

Puneeth Rajkumar and Chethan Kumar

Director Chethan Kumar waited for almost five years to direct Puneeth Rajkumar in a film. And finally, his dream came true with James, which has turned out to be quite an emotional ride. "James has been the hardest journey, emotionally and physically. It was bittersweet every time I watched the shots, and his presence will be missed," says the director, who started off the James journey in 2015 with a poster, and the film finally went on floors in 2020.

"Helming a film for Appu has been every Kannada director's dream. Given an opportunity, I didn't mind waiting. I was hopeful about our collaboration, and it finally came through," says Chethan, adding, "My first connect with Appu Sir was in 2012 when he switched on the camera for my first film, Bahaddhur, and also gave a voice-over for the film. When we were discussing James in 2015, Appu Sir had committed to three films. Since it was taking time, he made sure I continued to do other projects. Finally, after 5 years of talks, James muhurath took place on January 19, 2020, and on the same day, my third film, Bharaate, completed 100 days in the theatres."

Chethan had a handful of scripts in the bank, and he felt Puneeth perfectly fit the bill in an action entertainer her had ready. "Puneeth's fitness was a perfect fit for an action entertainer I had in mind. Even though my film has no connection with a Bond-style film, I still felt James would be an apt title," he says.

Chethan, who did not wish to reveal the storyline of James, shares that everybody should experience the film in theatres. "As an actor, Appu was a complete entertainer, and his void can't be filled," says Chethan, who believes Puneeth's portions as a soldier will be widely appreciated. "Every fan of Appu will be thrilled to watch him as an army officer."

Chethan revealed that Appu had watched the film entirely but in parts. "Appu was always there during the spot editing, and he knew how the film was shaping up. But I wished he had watched the entire film," says Chethan, adding, "He is one actor, who had good faith in the directors, and believed in their work."

The worldwide release of James coincides with Puneeth Rajkumar's birth anniversary and the film has been breaking many records in terms of the ticket price, and theatre count. The satellite rights of James, which was sold to Star Suvarna, is said to have been the highest ever in the actor's career, and the digital rights have been sold to Sony LIV for a whopping price. Incidentally, James is the first Kannada film to be aired on this platform. "The respect for Puneeth is not just as a hero, but also for his personality. James is just not another film, it is a tribute event that is given by all Kannadigas," says Chethan.

Signing off, Chethan had a message to all the Appu fans, "I request all Appu fans not to watch James as a regular cinema. It was his wish to release James on March 17, which we have managed to fulfill. Watch James for Appu, and enjoy every bit of his presence on the silver screen."

James backed by Kishore Pathikonda has an ensemble cast and features Puneeth in multiple shades. The film stars Priya Anand as the female lead, also stars Sarath Kumar, Meka Srikanth, Chikkanna, Shine Shetty, and Tilak playing prominent roles. James has music by Charan Raj and cinematography by J Swamy.

My role in Mishan Impossible was done out of friendship: Rishab Shetty

CE FEATURES

THE trailer of Telugu film Mishan Impossible, headlined by Taapsee Pannu, was recently released by Telugu superstar Mahesh Babu. Rishab Shetty's appearance in the trailer caught the audience by surprise.

This will mark Rishab's first appearance in a Telugu project. Speaking about the same, Rishab said that the interesting content of the RSJ Swaroop-directorial encouraged him to be a part of it. "Swaroop is a good friend of mine. I liked his debut directorial, Agent Sai Srinivasa Athreya, and informed him of the same when we met. Swaroop too shared his liking for my work. That's how we made a connection. It was then that he told me he had something in mind for me, and that project was Mishan Impossible. The Bengaluru-based character he had sketched for me was really interesting. A lot of portions of the film, including mine, were shot in the city."

Rishab shares that being part of Mishan Impossible, which is set to hit the screens on April 1, was done purely for friendship and not to make his debut in Telugu. "Our friendship, the Bengaluru connect and the content contributed my acceptance of Mishan Impossible," he says.

Meanwhile, Rishab is currently shooting for Kantara, which is in its last phase of filming. He also has Harikathe Alla Girikathe, Bell Bottom 2, and a directorial with Shivarajkumar coming up next.

THE MANY COLOURS OF RADHE SHYAM

PRIYANKA SUNDAR

Team Radhe Shyam speaks to us about the stunning visuals of the film and how they were envisioned and executed

The story of a palmist and doctor falling in love in the backdrop of stunning Italy is the crux of Radhe Shyam, the new film starring Prabhas and Pooja Hegde. Since its release, the film has received mixed reviews but almost everyone has been unanimous in appreciation for the film's cinematography. Prabhas, Pooja, and cinematographer Manoj Paramahamsa, speak of how the team came together to deliver a visually stunning period drama.

Pooja begins by sharing that she has left a part of herself in her character, Prerna. "She is a layered and complex character. She is stubborn, but she also loves. She is also someone who would go all in. It has been fun playing her." Pooja also says that her heart continues to be with the film as she has travelled long with it and her character.

Prabhas, on the other hand, was initially not convinced with the role of a palmist as he is not a believer in astrology. However, he expresses that the second half of the film changed his mind about playing the role of Vikramaditya. Prabhas and Pooja also feel that the way scenes were sketched helped them develop chemistry between their characters. The direction by Radha, music by Justin Prabhakaran, and cinematography by Manoj played pivotal roles, and a grateful Prabhas notes, "Everyone said that the chemistry is beautiful."

Speaking of romance and chemistry, Pooja cites the curtain shot in the hospital in the first act and exclaims, "That's romance! It's easier for us to act as actors when the director, the DOP, and everyone is in line to help you create this beautiful painting. It is in this little corner in the hospital. So, I think every single thing has helped us achieve this chemistry."

Prerna and Vikramaditya's meet-cute in Radhe Shyam is set in a train that travels through the scenic landscapes of Italy. In addition to the stunning views, the entire setup is straight out of fantasy. The sharp spring colours, Prerna's need for an adrenaline rush, and Vikramaditya falling for her at first sight — not to mention the still water that reflects all of this — it is all a vibrant canvas brought to life by cinematographer Manoj.

The idea behind the glossy treatment stems from the ambition to make fresh visuals. The film may be set in the 1970s, but that did not necessarily mean that the visuals needed to be defined by vintage colors. So, Manoj, along with director Radha Krishna Kumar, decided to go with an overall bright colour scheme. "If this film had been released in the 70s, what would it look like?" asks Manoj rhetorically, to assert that a period film does not always need to look dull and dirty.

Manoj also explains that the onscreen colour revolution took place originally in the 70s. He cites the examples of European cinema which came out during the period as an example of how vibrant films were. He also reveals that they attempted an anamorphic format in this film.

Several rules were broken and among them were outfits sported by the lead actors in the film, particularly of Pooja Hegde. She expresses how her initial views about being a part of a period film changed after a conversation with director Radha. She had assumed that she would have to look "simple" to denote the time that the film was set in. Radha, however, did not agree as his expectation for the film was more along the lines of fantasy.

"Radha sir said that the frame ought to be beautiful, as she is living her life. This is all achieved with the cinematography," says Pooja and adds, "I am glad this is the case because as Indians, we are so used to period films featuring the likes of lehengas and cholis. What is amazing though is that our team has given a European period film and made it glossy as their films are. It is something new for audiences here."

Kareena to make streaming debut in Sujoy Ghosh's next

CE FEATURES

KAREENA Kapoor, Jaideep Ahlawat and Vijay Varma will headline Sujoy Ghosh's next, set to release on Netflix. The makers announced the film through a video of a script reading session between the actors and director.
